

UNITED STATES IS WATCHING RESULT OF TRIPARTITE PACT

Will Protest a Viola- tion of Open Door Policy

AMERICAN NOTE ON SUBJECT CITED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—While no protest has been made thus far by the state department against the tripartite agreement by France, Great Britain and Italy delimiting spheres of influence in Turkey, officials stated today that this did not mean that no objection would be made against any provision viewed as contemplating an open door policy in Turkey.

The open door principle was insisted upon by the United States in the Turkish settlement it was said when President Wilson was asked in March by the French government for his views on the tentative draft of the Turkish treaty. The American note of March 24 said "it is the understanding of the government of the United States that whatever territorial changes or arrangements may be made in the former Ottoman empire such changes or arrangements will in no way place American citizens or corporations in a less favorable situation than the citizens or corporations of any power party to this treaty."

In some quarters it was contended that the second paragraph of Article 2 of the tripartite agreement did not violate this principle in excluding from the particular spheres of influence reserved for each of the three powers the nationals of the other two contracting parties.

Acting upon the principle of equal commercial opportunity for all nations in Turkey as laid down in the American note, the United States already sought to apply that precept in Mesopotamia. Inquiry was made several months ago of Great Britain concerning the reported French-British agreement over the exploitation of oil in the Mesopotamian area. This correspondence has not been made public. Western Anatolia in the sphere of Italian special interests under the tripartite agreement produced seven per cent of the world's supply of chrome before the war of which the United States imported in 1913, 15,200 tons besides a quantity of emery. It is also practically the world's sole source for meerschaum.

MINISTER MAY BE HELD FOR MURDER

Methodist Preacher Kills an Inn Proprietor—Claims he Shot in Self Defense—Was Prohibition Enforcement Leader.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 6.—Whether Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Sandwich, and a leader of prohibition enforcement agents along the border must stand trial for the slaying early today of Beverly Trumble an inn proprietor was to be determined by the result of a coroner's inquest which was still in session at a late hour tonight. Crown Attorney Rodd announced he would take no action against the minister-license inspector until the coroner's jury had rendered a verdict.

In a statement to police officers Spracklin claimed he shot Trumble in self-defense and his version of the raid on Trumble's place was corroborated by three other officers who were with him. Trumble's widow and several friends who were called to testify, however, declared Trumble was unarmed. Local police who made an investigation said they had been unable to find the pistol Spracklin claims the dead man had drawn upon him. Feeling ran high throughout the border cities tonight and the police said they had heard open threats to "shoot Spracklin on sight."

The minister was being detained by police headquarters for his own safety.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE SELECTS REPRESENTATIVE

C. B. Ames, Former Assistant Will At- tend Inquiry

GOVERNMENT IS PREPARED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Attorney General Palmer announced tonight that the department of justice would be represented by C. B. Ames, former assistant to the attorney general, at the inquiry Monday at Indianapolis by Federal Judge Anderson into the attorney general's connection with the soft coal cases.

The announcement followed a conference between Mr. Palmer and members of his staff which lasted all afternoon and at which all data bearing on the coal cases was reviewed. The government is prepared, Mr. Palmer said, to proceed with the prosecution of the cases now pending before Judge Anderson. He made no direct reference, however, to Judge Anderson's proposed inquiry, although the department's interest in the affair will be taken care of by Mr. Ames.

It was in connection with the conspiracy cases which are set for trial Monday, that Judge Anderson determined to institute an investigation of reasons for alleged opposition of which the government has against the defendants.

Mr. Ames has stated on several occasions that he had instructed federal attorneys in the coal cases not to use the evidence against the defendants which was used against them in the bituminous strike last winter.

LET COMMODITY PRICES TAKE COURSE

Department of Justice Feels That Steady Pressure Has Brought About Downward Arc—General Living Costs Show Decline.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Commodity prices have indicated such a downward trend that the department of justice is "largely content to let the downward trend carry on by its own momentum," according to a statement tonight by Howard Flegg, special assistant in charge of the work and who has resigned, effective November 15.

"The department feels that its same policy pressure is vindicated by the results achieved," Mr. Flegg said, "and announces that its action will continue along this line, to get business to readjust itself in accordance with popular necessity, but avoiding endangering the underlying sound prosperity of the nation."

It is significant that practically all items entering into the cost of living which are not controlled by the Lever law have continued to advance in price. Despite this fact the general cost of living is declining because of the marked decrease in the price of controlled items.

"The commodity market will continue to show a decline and it is only with the full co-operation of all business that this decline may be stopped at a point that will guarantee stability to business interests."

OPERATORS AND MINERS DEADLOCK ON WILSON MESSAGE

Unable to Agree on Interpretation of President's Telegram

WILL MEET AGAIN ON THURSDAY

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 6.—Virtually deadlocked on the interpretation of President Wilson's telegram requesting re-opening of the award of the anthracite wage commission, representatives of the mine workers and the operators adjourned their second day's conference here today without making much progress toward a new wage agreement.

The committees representing both sides will meet here again next Thursday. Progress in the wage negotiations was halted today, it was learned when the operators declared that President Wilson's telegram permitted only the ratification of alleged inequalities within the present wage agreement signed in accordance with the presidential commission's award.

This contention of the operators was disputed by the miners' representatives who said they had given existing differentials between the hard coal and soft coal workers' wage scales in a telegram to President Wilson on October 2 as a reason why the award should be re-opened. They declared President Wilson had these differentials in mind as well as other inequalities within the agreement contained in their telegram of a later date.

MILLIONAIRE CONTRACTOR IS UNDER INDICTMENT

Is Charged With Perjury in His Testimony Before Committee

SAID TO HAVE ACTED AS GO-BETWEEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Arraignment of George Backer, millionaire contractor, on an indictment charging perjury in testimony before the joint legislative committee investigating the alleged building trust here and a threat by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee to summon Mayor Hylan to explain failure to cancel contracts for new city buildings were outstanding developments in the inquiry today.

Backer was released under $15,000 bail and directed to appear again Monday in the court of general sessions to plead. The indictment charges him with perjury in first testifying that he gambled away $15,000 given by Ephraim Levy, another builder and later admitting he had paid the money to "two strangers who looked like working men." Backer according to witnesses, acted as "go-between" among contractors and laborers.

Mr. Untermyer's threat to call the mayor before the committee was contained in a letter to Comptroller Craig made public tonight. The counsel for the committee said he understands work is proceeding upon contracts "that are based on collusive bids" and that it is time these were taken to prevent the further mulcting of the city.

He proposed a non-partisan vigilance committee removed from politics to check the city officials on the vast business that is being transacted for the city.

STEAMSHIPS CAN'T REDUCE RATES YET

May Be Obligated to Increase Them— Other Things Going Down— Spreckles Says Sugar Will Go Lower Yet.

New York, Nov. 6.—Steamship companies cannot yet afford to reduce passenger rates and may be obliged to increase them, P. A. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine Company declared today just before sailing for Europe in the Scamander.

"Rates might gradually go down if there were a reduction in operating costs, but operating costs are still going up," he added. Another passenger on the Olympic was Clause A. Speckles, sugar refiner, whose cheerful parting words were that sugar had not reached the low price level to which it will fall.

Government control of sugar according to Mr. Speckles resulted in the displacement of that foodstuffs, some parts of the country having more and others less than they needed.

"Prices must go to normal and by that I mean to pre-war figures," he continued. "This fall finds us with a surplus to be sold of 1,250,000 tons. Only half of Europe is able to purchase anything and the sugar crop must be used in this country."

"It has never been so essential as now for unorganized labor to rally to the cause of unionism," he added.

"Labor masses must stand together and meet their opponents manfully and heroically, he declared and urged alertness to combat successfully disorganizing movements.

CROWDS GREET THE HARDING SPECIAL ON WAY TO TEXAS

Crowds Gather at Every Station Along the Way

PRESIDENT ELECT MAKES BRIEF TALKS

ON BOARD PRESIDENT-ELECT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Nov. 6.—Crowds rivalling those of campaign days turned out to greet the president-elect as he traveled southwestward on a trip into the Texas coast. At more than a dozen cities along the way in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois his private car was besieged by cheering men, women and children clamoring for a speech or a chance to shake his hand. In some cases there were thousands in the crowds and even at the smaller towns where no stops were made the people turned out in force to wave him their regards.

In several places he spoke briefly from the rear platform of his car, expressing his gratitude for the welcome accorded him and declaring that he meant to be the "real" president, forgetful of the "political" of the campaign and devoted to ways to the interests of the nation as a whole.

As in his campaign speeches he preached a doctrine of common understanding and of faithfulness to American institutions and ideals.

Mrs. Harding also waved a greeting to every crowd and at every stop there were cheers for the next first lady of the land.

Mrs. Harding Receives Flowers.

Flowers and other gifts were handed up to her at several stops as she leaned out of the window shaking hands with all of those within reach. The number who gathered along the path of the special train was a surprise to those on board. Mr. Harding's advisers having declined to make public his itinerary and arranged to avoid local demonstrations in order to give him a quiet rest. The news traveled ahead however, and as soon as he saw the first wayward gathering the president-elect himself insisted that it would be unfair to run past waiting crowds without a word of greeting.

Mr. Harding also announced during the day that he had agreed to break up his twelve day's stay at Point Isabel, Texas by delivering an address in Brownsville, 20 miles away on next Thursday, Armistice Day. He will speak under the auspices of the American Legion at detailed arrangements have not been made.

The president-elect's train which left Marion at 7:30 this morning will make an almost continuous run to its destination. A stop at a half hour was made tonight at St. Louis and tonight there will be a lay over of equal length at San Antonio, but most of the way it is the intention to travel on a fast schedule.

At St. Louis the greater part of the crowd that greeted the president-elect was held behind the iron gates leading into the away-stay at Union Station. So Mr. Harding left his car and spoke from a stool placed against the gates.

The previous record party majority in the house, Mr. Page said was in the 63rd congress, elected in 1912 when the Progressive party was in the field and the Democrats had a plurality of 103.

UNITED STATES IS WATCHING RESULT OF TRIPARTITE PACT

Will Protest a Violation of Open Door
Policy

AMERICAN NOTE ON SUBJECT CITED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—While no protest has been made thus far by the state department against the tripartite agreement by France, Great Britain and Italy delimiting spheres of influence in Turkey, officials stated today that this did not mean that no objection would be made against any provision viewed as contemplating an open door policy in Turkey.

The open door principle was insisted upon by the United States in the Turkish settlement it was said when President Wilson was asked in March by the French government for his views on the tentative draft of the Turkish treaty. The American note of March 24 said "it is the understanding of the government of the United States that whatever territorial changes are made in the Ottoman empire such changes or arrangements will in no way place American citizens or corporations in a less favorable situation than the citizens or corporations of any power party to this treaty."

In some quarters it was contended that the second paragraph of Article 2 of the tripartite agreement did not violate this principle in excluding from the particular spheres of influence reserved for each of the three powers the nationals of the other two contracting parties.

Acting upon the principle of equal commercial opportunity for all nations in Turkey as laid down in the American note, the United States already sought to apply that principle in Mesopotamia. Inquiry was made several months ago of Great Britain concerning the reported French-British agreement over the exploitation of oil in the Mesopotamian area. This correspondence has not been made public. Western Anatolia in the sphere of Italian special interests under the tripartite agreement produced seven per cent of the world's supply of chrome before the war of which the United States imported in 1913, 18,200 tons besides a quantity of emery. It is also practically the world's sole source for meerschaum.

In a statement to police officers Spracklin claimed he shot Trumble in self-defense and his version of the raid on Trumble's place was corroborated by three other officers who were with him. The present congress contains an equal number of miscellaneous members, four with 232 Republicans and 190 Democrats.

In two of the districts reported today Republican victories will result in the unseating of two Democratic representatives who are members of the present congress. In the fifth Missouri E. C. McKinney, Democrat, who now represents the district, lost to Albert R. Rosendale, Republican.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE SELECTS REPRESENTATIVE

C. B. Ames, Former Assistant Will Attend Inquiry

GOVERNMENT IS PREPARED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Attorney General Palmer announced tonight that the department of justice would be represented by C. B. Ames, former assistant to the attorney general, at the inquiry Monday at Indianapolis by Federal Judge Anderson into the attorney general's connection with the soft coal cases.

The announcement followed a conference between Mr. Palmer and members of his staff which lasted all afternoon and at which all data bearing on the coal cases was reviewed. The government is prepared, Mr. Palmer said, to proceed with the prosecution of the cases now pending before Judge Anderson. He made no direct reference, however, to Judge Anderson's proposed inquiry, although the department's interest in the affair will be taken care of by Mr. Ames.

It was in connection with the conspiracy cases which are set for trial Monday that Judge Anderson determined to institute an investigation of reasons for the alleged prosecution of which the government is against the defendants.

Mr. Palmer has stated on several occasions that he had instructed federal attorneys in the coal cases not to use the evidence against the defendants which was used against them in the injunction proceedings during the bituminous strike last winter.

LET COMMODITY PRICES TAKE COURSE

Department of Justice Feels That Steady Pressure Has Brought About Downward Trend—General
Living Costs Show Decline.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Commodity prices have indicated such a downward trend that the department of justice is "largely content to let the downward trend carry on by its own momentum," according to a statement tonight by Howard Fleg, special assistant in charge of the work and who has resigned, effective November 15.

"The department feels that its same policy pressure is vindicated by the results achieved," Mr. Fleg said, "and announces that its action will continue along this line, to get business to readjust itself in accordance with the new conditions, but avoiding endangering the underlying sound prosperity of the nation."

"It is significant that practically all items entering into the cost of living have not continued to advance in price. Despite the fact the general cost of living is declining because of the marked decrease in the price of controlled items.

"The commodity market will continue to show a decline and it is only with the full co-operation of all business that this decline may be stopped at a point which will guarantee stability to business interests."

OPERATORS AND MINERS DEADLOCK ON WILSON MESSAGE

Unable to Agree on Interpretation of President's Telegram

WILL MEET AGAIN ON THURSDAY

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 6.—Virtually deadlocked on the interpretation of President Wilson's telegram requesting reopening of the award of the anthracite wage commission, representatives of the mine workers and the operators adjourned their second day's conference here today without making much progress toward a new wage agreement.

The committees representing both sides will meet here again next Thursday. Progress in the wage negotiations was halted today. It was learned when the operators declared that President Wilson's telegram permitted only the ratification of alleged inequalities within the present wage agreement signed in accordance with the presidential commission's award.

This contention of the operators was disputed by the miners' representatives who said they had given existing differentials between the hard coal and soft coal workers' wage scales in a telegram to President Wilson on October 2 as a reason why the award should be re-opened. They declared President Wilson had those differentials in mind as well as other inequalities within the agreement contained in their telegram of a later date.

essity — Investigate Pacific

Mark Twain One of Those Chosen by Electors

MANY PROMINENT NAMES ARE REJECTED

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Following a custom less formally observed thru all the centuries since the works of Anaxagoras were relegated to the top shelf to make room for those of Aeschylus, the electors of the New York University Hall of Fame yesterday announced the dedication of a niche to Mark Twain. Noah Webster after consideration was not admitted.

Along with the great humorist whose "Huckleberry Finn" and a hundred other light hearted tales have endeared themselves to the American reader, five other famous men and one woman were accorded places in the colonnade surrounding University Heights and overlooking the Hudson river. They were James Buchanan, Henry, patriot and statesman, William Thomas Green Morton, physician, August Gaudens, sculptor, Roger Williams, preacher of Rhode Island, and Alice Freeman Palmer, teacher.

Mark Twain who was voted on by the 101 electors under his true name Samuel Langhorne Clemens and Morton received more votes than any of the others each being named by 72 electors. In the case of each of the seven 51 votes were necessary to elect.

MILLIONAIRE CONTRACTOR IS UNDER INDICTMENT

Is Charged With Perjury in His Testimony Before
Committee

SAID TO HAVE ACTED AS GO-BETWEEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Arraignment of George Backer, millionaire contractor, on an indictment charging perjury in testimony before the joint legislative committee investigating the alleged building trust here and a threat by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee to summon Mayor Hylan to explain failure to cancel contracts for new city buildings were outstanding developments in the inquiry today.

Backer was released under $15,000 bail and directed to appear again Monday in the court of general sessions to plead. The indictment charges him with perjury in first testifying that he gambled away $15,000 given him by Ephraim Levy, another builder, and later admitting he had paid the money to "two strangers who looked like working men." Backer according to witnesses, acted as "go-between" among contractors and laborers.

Mr. Untermyer's threat to call the mayor before the committee was contained in a letter to Comptroller Craig made public tonight. The counsel for the committee said he understands work is proceeding upon contracts "that are based on collusive bids" and that it is time steps were taken to prevent the further mulcting of the city.

He proposed a non-partisan vigilance committee, removed from politics to check the city officials on the vast business that is being transacted for the city.

STEAMSHIPS CAN'T REDUCE RATES YET

May Be Obligated to Increase Them—
Other Things Going Down—
Speckles Says Sugar Will Go
Lower Yet.

New York, Nov. 6.—Steamship companies cannot yet afford to reduce passenger rates and may be obliged to increase them, P. A. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine Company declared today just before sailing for Europe in the Scandinavia.

"Rates might gradually go down if there were a reduction in operating costs, but operating costs are still going up," he added. Another passenger on the Olympic was Clause A. Speckles, sugar refiner, whose cheerful parting words were that sugar had not reached the low price level to which it will fall.

Government control of sugar according to Mr. Speckles resulted in the displacement of that foodstuff, some parts of the country having more and others less than they needed.

"Prices must go to normal and by that I mean to pre-war figures," he continued. "This fall finds us with a surplus to be sold of 1,250,000 tons. Only half of Europe is able to purchase anything and the sugar crop must be used in this country."

GOMPERS UPHOLDS CAUSE OF LABOR

New York, Nov. 6.—Samuel Gompers in presenting an American Federation of Labor charter to the newly organized central trades and labor council of Greater New York this afternoon exhorted members to conduct themselves in a manner befitting the high standards of organized labor.

In a brief address upholding the cause of labor Mr. Gompers asserted "reaction has jumped into the saddle" and that he believed an organized movement is on foot by big business to undermine labor.

"It has never been so essential as now for unorganized labor to rally to the cause of unionism," he added.

The labor masses must stand together and meet their opponents manfully and heroically, he declared and urged alertness to combat successfully disorganizing movements.

CROWDS GREET THE HARDING SPECIAL ON WAY TO TEXAS

Station Along the Way

PRESIDENT ELECT MAKES BRIEF TALKS

ON BOARD PRESIDENT-ELECT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Nov. 6.—Crowds rivalling those of campaign days turned President-elect Harding's vacation trip into a triumphal tour today as he traveled southwestward for an outing on the Texas coast. At more than a dozen cities along the way in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois his private car was besieged by cheering men, women and children clamoring for a special chance to shake his hand. In some cases there were thousands in the crowds and even at the smaller towns where no stops were made the people turned out in force to wave him their regards.

In several places he spoke briefly from the rear platform of his car, expressing his gratitude for the welcome accorded him and declaring that he meant to be the "people's president, forgetful of the fatigues of the campaign and desiring ways to the interest of the nation as a whole."

As in his campaign speeches he preached a doctrine of common understanding and of faithfulness to American institutions and ideals.

Mrs. Harding also waved a greeting to every crowd and at every stop there were cheers for the next lady of the land.

Mrs. Harding received flowers. Flowers and other gifts were handed up to her at several stops as she leaned out of the window shaking hands with all of those within reach. The number who gathered along the path of the special train was a surprise to those on board. Mr. Harding's advisers having declined to make public his itinerary and arranged to avoid local demonstrations in order to give him a thorough rest. The news traveled ahead, however, and as soon as he saw the first way-side gathering the president-elect himself insisted that it would be unfair to run past waiting crowds without a word of greeting.

Mr. Harding also announced during the day that he had agreed to break up his twelve day's stay at Point Isabel, Texas by delivering an address in Brownsville, 29 miles away on next Thursday, Armistice Day. He will speak under the auspices of the American Legion local details arrangements have not been made.

The president-elect's train which left Marion at 1:30 this morning will make an almost continuous run to its destination. A stop of a half hour was made tonight at St. Louis and tonight there will be a lay over of equal length at San Antonio, but most of the way it is the intention to travel on a fast schedule.

At St. Louis the greater part of the crowd that greeted the president-elect was held behind the iron gates leading into the area-way at Union Station so Mr. Harding left his car and spoke from a stool placed against the rails.

REPUBLICANS WILL HAVE 176 PLURALITY

The count shows 205 Republicans, 129 Democrats and one Socialist. Mr. Page's list in which the party designation is selected by each elected member shows no Independents or Prohibitionists seated. The previous record party majority in the house, Mr. Page said was in the 63rd congress, elected in 1912 when the Progressive party was in the field and the Democrats had a plurality of 163.

One good thing about an election with overwhelming majorities is that no contests are possible. Everybody is better satisfied with a wide variance between the successful and the defeated candidates than they can be with an uncomfortably close vote.

There were some sharp contests in the Illinois election but there really are not as many sore spots as usual. There is no reason why Mr. Small may not proceed to give the state the honest and efficient administration that he has promised, and there are good reasons to believe the promises will be kept.

A good many manufacturing plants are closing for "inventories." Have you noticed that when most of these plants reopen that the wage scales are lower than those which have previously prevailed? It is the tendency of the times.

Decatur citizens are not protesting but it is doubtful if they are enthusiastic about their increased water rates. These rates, it is said, have been increased something more than 200 per cent. But the city government has given the reasons showing the enormous increase in operation costs, and when people understand the reasons for increases they don't do very much kicking.

MAY REVIVE HOTEL PROJECT.

An architect who makes a specialty of hotels told a local man that in his opinion by February of 1921 it will be possible to let a contract for a hotel at figures very materially below those that have held for the past year. This expert says that a hotel building which would have cost $250,000 in the early months of 1920, can be built in 1921 for $150,000.

If these estimates prove correct, perhaps the hotel building project in Jacksonville may again take life. Almost every night in Jacksonville the hotels turn people away because they are unable to accommodate them. Increased and better hotel facilities would mean more visitors in Jacksonville.

THE SAME OLD GAME.

Just about the only unseasonal campaign story was the one heard about a week before the election, suggesting some taint in the ancestry of Senator Harding. This fact brings to mind a recent book by William E. Barton on "The Paternity of Abraham Lincoln." A reviewer of that book says that slurs upon the ancestry of Presidential candidates have been one of the commonest forms of malicious attack. In 1841 the Copperhead Press attacked the good name of Lincoln. A like story was circulated about An-draw Jackson in his time, and other presidential candidates have suffered in a similar way. The 1920 story gained very little headway.

CONSTITUTIONAL PROPOSALS.

Oscar Hewitt, special writer for the Chicago Tribune, summarizes 15 or 20 important decisions made by the constitutional convention which will be embodied in the constitution as submitted to the people. A reading of these subjects, which extend from a provision for all elections to be held upon one day in each year, down to the proposal which would guarantee the privilege of intermarriage between white and blacks, gives emphasis to the fact that when the constitution is submitted the opportunity should be given to vote upon proposals separated.

In no other way will there be a constitution which the people will adopt. It will be disastrous to submit the proposed constitution as a whole, with the privilege of only voting "yes" or "no" on the entire list.

THE RETURN OF COURTESY.

A Jacksonville man the other day received a letter from the assistant manager of the Pullman Car Co., expressing regret over the loss of a watch which he sustained on a car several months ago. The letter indicated that a thorough search had been made and every effort put forth to restore the lost property without avail. The letter was so courteous, worded and indicated so much interest in the welfare of the passenger, that the local man says it was worth the watch to receive it.

But the most important thing is that this letter manifests a new spirit in railroad service—a desire to really care for the comfort and well being of the traveling public. "It's a new spirit," said the Jacksonville man, "or possibly a revival of the old spirit, which was not apparent in the days of government control. In those days the public was extended mighty scant courtesy by the average railroad employee. It was partially his fault and partially the fault of those 'higher up' I am mighty glad to see the new day dawning and that letter is indicative of the change for the better that the railroad service is taking on."

FROM A VISITOR'S VIEWPOINT.

While a great majority of people wished to give the soldiers of '61 whatever they wanted in a public memorial, there was some difference of opinion as to the fitness of a monument in the park. But, as recently suggested since the beautiful plaques of bronze and granite have been finished, the opinion has changed and people are now practically of one mind in their pleasure that the will of the old soldier has been carried out and that the monument project has come to such a handsome consummation.

It is worth while noting in this connection that the monument which now adorns Central park is very much out of the ordinary run of public memorials. During the recent state conference of charities and corrections held here a woman visitor was told about the soldiers' monument and her hostess expressed the wish that the visitor should see it. Then it was that this visitor, schooled in affairs of art, frankly said that she had little interest in seeing the monument; that in passing years she had inspected most of them in Illinois and that all were disappointing.

Notwithstanding this opinion, the visitor was subsequently taken to Central park and after the visit expressed her opinion just as frankly as in her original comment. "You have here," she said, "the most beautiful monument of the kind that I have ever seen. The conception and the execution are both wonderful and you have compelled me to change my mind about the possibilities of public memorials of this kind. I want to congratulate the people of Morgan county on the real work of art that is to stand here thru the years, a public testimonial to the heroes of '61."

Rippling Rhythms

By Walt Mason

The Losers.

On the bosom of Salt River sluggishly their vessel floats, and their dismal dirge—quiver on the air, in sobbing notes; we can hear their weary chorus: "Gloomy skies are bending o'er us, and there is no home before us, for we've lost our William Goats." Ah here is no joyous ditty, from the passengers or crew, and my eyes are wet with pity as a lawn is wet with dew; it is sad to see them sailing; it is tough to hear them wailing as they lean against the railing for a last and longing view. Up Salt River's weeping waters they must sail for years, perhaps, just because some timorous rotters voted for other chaps, they must sail while autumn mellow, they must sail while the winter bellows, knowing that the other fellows gather in the public snaps. Oh, it is a ship of sorrow that proceeds upon its way, and the heaving done tomorrow will be louder than today; for each landmark will remind them of the snaps they leave behind them and the seething tears will blind them till they hit the harbour bay. But the ship will be returning with its passengers and crew, and their bosoms will be burning with ambitions fine and new; and for office they'll be running, and for votes they will be guing, on a platform simply stunning, and a nice fresh rag to chew.

ELECTION CANVASS HAS BEEN COMPLETED

Little Change Shown in Official Figure—Harding Sweet County by Majority of 3,722.

The big task of canvassing the election returns was completed by County Clerk Riggs and his assistants Saturday afternoon. The figures show some interesting facts. The total vote cast in the county was 13,254. The highest electoral vote on the Republican ticket was 8,169, while the highest on the Democratic ticket was 4,445.

Andrew Russel as candidate for state auditor received the highest vote of any candidate, his majority being 4,113.

A week ago no man would have predicted such a wide variance in the vote cast with Harding and Coolidge sweeping the county by the unprecedented majority of 3,724 while one county candidate on the Democratic ticket was defeated by a majority of less than 400. Certainly the voters, both men and women, know how to scratch their ballots, and this fact accounts for the wide variance in party majorities. There were 151 Socialist votes cast in the county, while the Farmer-Labor ticket received a total of 114 votes. Prohibition candidates received but 95 votes. In the past they have often run third but with the prohibition amendment a part of the constitution, many people interested in the temperance cause evidently feel that the Prohibition party is no longer necessary.

The official totals are as follows: For president—Harding, men, 4,534; women, 3,635; total 8,169; Cox, men, 2,710; women, 1,737; total, 4,447; Harding's majority, 3,722.

Rev. H. H. DeWitte, pastor of the Second Baptist church of this city, lived in Gallatin, Tenn., at the time the Taylor brothers, Al and Bob, ran against each other for governor. Bob, the Democrat, was elected, and this year the tables were turned and Al was elected on the Republican ticket. When the brothers visited Gallatin they were taken around in a carriage drawn by four white horses and a great demonstration attended them. Elder DeWitte speaks very highly of the newly elected governor.

Stewart Company Makes on 18% Cut in Truck Prices

Head of Buffalo Concern Says All Should Join in War on High Costs

Price reductions averaging about 18 per cent., have been announced by T. R. Lippard, president of the Stewart Motor Corporation of Buffalo, manufacturers of automobile trucks.

"This bedrock reduction in Stewart prices means a large temporary loss to the factory while using up material on hand," said Mr. Lippard in making the announcement, "but I believe that all business men should arbitrarily reduce their prices and help put the business of the country on a sound basis quickly, thus insuring continued prosperity and full employment of labor."

The old and new prices of Stewart trucks, as announced, are as follows:

Fat That Shows Soon Disappears

Prominent fat that comes and stays where it is not needed is a burden, a hindrance to activity, and a sure sign of pleasure. Many forms of exercise to reduce weight have been advanced, such as dieting, hard work, excessive exercise, etc., all of which are either unpleasant or dangerous.

The latest, more modern and pleasant way to take off surplus weight, is to take, after each meal and at bedtime, a Marmola Tablet. These little tablets are as effective and harmless as the common Marmola. The reason from which they take their name.

To get rid of fat at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week, simply take one of these little tablets after each meal, and at bedtime until you have reduced your weight to where you want it. No wrinkles or fineness will remain to show where the fat came off.

They are for sale by all druggists at $1 for a good size box. If you prefer to have them come to you direct by mail, prepaid, in plain sealed cover, send amount to the Marmola Co., 47 Gardfield Building, Detroit, Mich., and bid goodbye to dieting, exercise and fat. Be yourself, slim, trim and attractive.

Head of Buffalo Concern Says All Should Join in War on High Costs

Price reductions averaging about 18 per cent., have been announced by T. R. Lippard, president of the Stewart Motor Corporation of Buffalo, manufacturers of automobile trucks.

"This bedrock reduction in Stewart prices means a large temporary loss to the factory while using up material on hand," said Mr. Lippard in making the announcement, "but I believe that all business men should arbitrarily reduce their prices and help put the business of the country on a sound basis quickly, thus insuring continued prosperity and full employment of labor."

The old and new prices of Stewart trucks, as announced, are as follows:

Prominent fat that comes and stays where it is not needed is a burden, a hindrance to activity, and a curb upon pleasure.
Many forms of devices to reduce weight have been advanced, such as dieting, hard work, excessive exercise, etc., all of which are either unpleasant or dangerous.

The latest, more modern and pleasant way to take off hard-earned fat, is to take after each meal and at bedtime, a Marmola
Tablet. These little tablets are as effective and harmless as the famous Marmola Re-scription from which they take their name.

To get rid of fat at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week, simply take one of these little tablets after each meal and at bedtime until you have reduced your weight to where you want it. No wrinkles or dishfigure will remain to show where the fat came off.

They are for sale by all druggists at $1.00 a good size box. If you prefer to have them come to you direct by mail, prepaid, in plain sealed cover, send amount to the Marmola

WOULD RESTRICT

JEW IN HUNGARY

Introduce Bill to Limit Jewish Students in University—Give Race Credit for Country's Progress.

BUDAPEST.—(By Associated Press.)—A presentation of the Jewish question in Hungary that has attracted wide republication and comment was made by the Bishop of Stuhlweissenburg, Ottakar Prohazka, in the course of a debate in the National Assembly this week.

The Bishop introduced and spoke to a bill intended to restrict the number of Jewish students in the university, the clinics and the colleges of agriculture. It was meant he said to guarantee a living to the Hungarian middle classes and at the same time to afford a basis for a predetermined selection of students. This selection was to have patriotism for a basis. The measure was not a plot against the liberty of education.

"Since 1867," he continued, "Hungarian political economy and Hungarian trade have experienced a great expansion and for this we have to thank the Jews. By diligence and tenacity of life the Jews have pushed back, as it were, the new Hungarian generation."

"Anti-Semitism as such does not exist in Hungary," the anti-Semitism is such as bids us look upon the Jew as an essential portion of the nation but to prevent him gaining a preponderance over us. We are not faced by the problem of anti-Semitism but by that of racial self-defense. Our Christianity is being made to feel that it is being pushed back at every step. This process deserves the name of de-Christianization. Our attitude of defense must not be looked upon by the Jews as an act of hatred. Merely for the sake of liberalism we must not suffer that half the lawyers and the majority of medical men in the country be Jews. Not only the middle classes but also what may be called the genius of the race is advancing toward its extermination. Hungarian literature is saturated with the Jewish atmosphere. We must defend our national culture when we see it endangered."

SERBIAN SCHOOLS TEACHING ENGLISH

Introduced in Belgrade By American Teachers—Many Teachers Killed in War.

Belgrade, Serbia.—(By The Associated Press.)—English is being introduced throughout the schools of Serbia. It is now made a compulsory subject in the normal schools. The first courses in English, which were inaugurated in Belgrade a year ago under an American teacher, Dr. James Wild of Chicago, have yielded such excellent results that the government has decided to make the language a part of the curricula of all schools.

Heretofore the dominating language of the Serbians, apart from their native tongue, has been German. The Germans were quick to see the advantages of introducing their language as a means of acquainting the school children with the ways and customs of the German people. The pupils were given little chance of acquiring the things that go to make up the life and culture of Anglo-Saxon civilization.

A very large proportion of Serbia's school teachers were killed in war, 800 having died during the Bulgarian occupation. Scores of school buildings were destroyed, and most of the school books printed in the Serbian language were deliberately confiscated and burned by the Bulgarians. Even Bibles were carried off, the object of the Bulgarians being to displace all books in the Serbian language with publications in their own tongue.

Notwithstanding these disasters out of 2,100 schools in Serbia, nearly 2,000 have reopened. So great is the thirst for education in Serbia that it is a common thing for children in the country districts to leave their homes before daybreak and walk for several hours to reach school, not returning home until late in the evening. The school buildings, owing to the ravages of war, often are without window panes, heating, desks, books and even writing material.

So great is the shortage of teachers and the influx of pupils that the former have to work from dawn until night, taking their classes in "relays."

ADVISORY BOARD OF FARM BUREAU MEETS

Members of the advisory council of the Morgan County Farm Bureau met at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the office of the county agent in the Hooker building, and discussed several matters of importance to the membership. The principal discussion concerned programs of work to be carried out in different communities.

The idea of the advisory board is to foster farm promotion work throughout the county, but in different forms to fit the community.

It was voted to add to the office equipment of the Bureau by the purchase of an addressograph, an adding machine and a new typewriter. The report for October made by County Agent George B. Kendall was: Office consultations, 181.

INDIA NATIVES EAT ONLY COARSE GRAINS

Chicago.—How it is that notwithstanding reports of famine in India that country is exporting wheat was explained here today by the Rev. Dr. Benson Baker, who has been many years a missionary in the heart of India. He now represents the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church in Chicago, working in connection with the committee on Conservation and Advance.

"The reason is very clear," Dr. Baker said. "The people of India are so poor that the great mass of them live on the coarser grains, such as barley, rye, rice, etc. Wheat is eaten only by the wealthy people, and is grown largely for export, so that even in the face of famine it is better to export the wheat, and to use the money received in buying coarser grains, which the poor people are accustomed to eat."

"There are always good crops in some parts of India, and now with their modern railroad systems, the government is able to transport grain from one part to another, thus in some measure alleviating the rigor of famine."

"Just now famine is due very largely to our old friend, H. C. L. The cost of living in India has risen in proportion more than it has in America, and the people there are on a totally different economic basis, have had a frightful time of it. Until some readjustment in wages and living expense has been made, something akin to famine conditions is bound to obtain. If India can sell its wheat, which is comparatively a high priced product, to the outside world, the money obtained will help to solve great problems there."

Dr. Baker added he was "convinced that the great mass of people in India are satisfied with British rule, and under the new reform schemes, we are going to see India made tremendous advances."

SERIES CONTINUED

The series of addresses on the Pilgrim Fathers will be continued on Sunday evening in the Congregational church. Next Sunday the subject will be "The Conquest of the Pilgrim Spirit". The delegates to the coming celebration at Plymouth Rock are now on the water crossing the Atlantic and in the coming weeks there will be thousands of communities in the United States which will celebrate the Tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers.

TRAFFIC CONDITIONS

ARE BAD IN ROMANIA

Passengers Ride on Tops of Cars and on Trucks—Fare Same No Matter Where Passengers Ride.

Bucharest, Rumania.—(By the Associated Press.)—If Americans feel that their subways, railroads and trolley cars are crowded, conditions in Rumania and other parts of the Balkans are worse. Railroad traffic today in Rumania is so great that passengers ride on the roofs of every train by the hundreds. When the tops of the trains are so crowded that they can hold no more, the passengers cling to the running boards, ride on the bumpers and even on the under framework of the car. The fare is the same whether the passenger rides in a compartment or on the roof of the car. Accidents are frequent. Often when a train has entered a tunnel a number of passengers have been swept off the roof to their death.

The congested traffic is due to the small number of locomotives and coaches available and to insufficient trackage. Most of the country's rolling stock was carried off by the Germans or destroyed. Some of the locomotives and cars have been replaced, but the number is far from adequate. A large American locomotive concern has contracted to send a number of engines here, taking in payment a quantity of oil.

There are at present less than 3,000 locomotives in Rumania, including the newly-acquired provinces of Transylvania and Bessarabia. About half this number are in order. Most of them are of German or Hungarian construction. There is such a shortage of passenger coaches that box cars often are used for the conveyance of the public.

The total trackage in Greater Rumania is about 19,500 miles. This has to serve an area of nearly 300,000 square miles and a population of 13,000,000. Many of the steel rails are almost entirely worn out and the road beds are in need of major repairs. Rumanian railway officials say that American railroad men and engineers would do well to investigate business prospects in Rumania. Railroads must be constructed and others double-tracked. The country will require an enormous quantity of railroad supplies to re-equip and reconstruct the lines that suffered during the war. Bridges also must be built, canals cut and harbors extended.

EUROPEAN CITIES

SURPASS THOSE OF U. S.

In Point of Cleanliness and Tidiness of Streets, According to American, Just Returned from Overseas.

NEW YORK.—(By The Associated Press.)—The large cities of Europe in the point of cleanliness and tidiness of streets are ahead of New York, Chicago, Cincinnati and many cities in America, says Clyde A. Copson, manager of the Anti-Litter Bureau of the Merchant's Association, who has just returned from a trip of observation in Europe.

"In some sections of New York," he said, "I can see more street litter in one square block than in any one city I visited abroad. Paris and London are models of cleanliness and comparatively free of street litter of any description. This is due to the fact that the people abroad are much tidier than we who live in America."

"The city of New York conditions conditions that none of the cities which I visited would tolerate for a moment."

WOULD RESTRICT JEWS IN HUNGARY

Introduce Bill to Limit Jewish Students in University—Give Raec Credit for Country's Progress.

BUDAPEST.—(By Associated Press.)—A presentation of the Jewish question in Hungary that has attracted wide republication and comment was made by the Bishop of Stuhlweissenburg, Ottakar Prohazka, in the course of a debate in the National Assembly this week.

The Bishop introduced and spoke to a bill intended to restrict the number of Jewish students in the university, the clinics and the colleges of agriculture. It was meant he said to guarantee a living to the Hungarian middle classes and at the same time to afford a basis for a predetermined selection of students. This selection was to have patriotism for a basis. The measure was not a plot against the liberty of education.

"Since 1867," he continued, "Hungarian political economy and Hungarian trade have experienced a great expansion and for this we have to thank the Jews. By diligence and tenacity of life the Jews have pushed back, as it were, the new Hungarian generation."

"Anti-semitism as such does not exist in Hungary. Our anti-semitism is such as bids us look upon the Jew as an essential portion of the nation but to prevent him gaining a preponderance over us. We are not faced by the problem of anti-semitism but by that of racial self-defense. Our Christianity is being made to feel that it is being pushed back at every step. This process deserves the name of de-Christianization. Our attitude of defense must not be looked upon by the Jews as an act of hatred. Merely for the sake of liberalism we must not suffer that half the lawyers and the majority of medical men in the country be Jews. Not only the middle classes but also what may be called the genius of the race is advancing toward its extermination. Hungarian literature is saturated with the Jewish atmosphere. We must defend our national culture when we see it endangered."

SERBIAN SCHOOLS TEACHING ENGLISH

Introduced in Belgrade By American Teacher—Many Teachers Killed in War.

Belgrade, Serbia.—(By The Associated Press.)—English is being introduced thruout the schools of Serbia. It is now made a compulsory subject in the normal schools. The first courses in English, which were inaugurated in Belgrade a year ago under an American teacher, Dr. James Wild of Chicago, have yielded such excellent results that the government has decided to make the language a part of the curricula of all schools.

Heretofore the dominating language of the Serbians, apart from their native tongue, has been German. The Germans were quick to see the advantages of introducing their language as a means of acquainting the school children with the ways and customs of the German people. The pupils were given little chance of acquiring the things that go to make up the life and culture of Anglo-Saxon civilization.

A very large proportion of Serbia's school teachers were killed in war, 800 having died during the Bulgarian occupation. Scores of school buildings were destroyed, and most of the school books printed in the Serbian language were deliberately confiscated and burned by the Bulgars. Even Bibles were carried off, the object of the Bulgarians being to displace all books in the Serbian language with publications in their own tongue.

Notwithstanding these disasters out of 2,100 schools in Serbia, nearly 2,000 have reopened. So great is the thirst for education in Serbia that it is a common thing for children in the country districts to leave their homes before daybreak and walk for several hours to reach school, not returning home until late in the evening. The school buildings, owing to the ravages of war, often are without window panes, heating, desks, books and even writing material.

So great is the shortage of teachers and the influx of pupils that the former have to work from dawn until night, taking their classes in "relays."

ADVISORY BOARD OF FARM BUREAU MEETS

Members of the advisory council of the Morgan County Farm Bureau met at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the office of the county agent in the Hockenbush building, and discussed several matters of importance to the membership. The principal discussion concerned programs of work to be carried out in different communities.

The idea of the advisory board is to foster farm promotion work throughout the county, but in different forms to fit the community.

It was voted to add to the office equipment of the Bureau by the purchase of an addressograph, an adding machine and a new typewriter.

INDIA NATIVES EAT ONLY COARSE GRAINS

Chicago.—How it is that notwithstanding reports of famine in India that country is exporting wheat was explained here today by the Rev. Dr. Benson Baker, who has been many years a missionary in the heart of India. He now represents the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church in Chicago, working in connection with the committee on Conservation and Advance.

"The reason is very clear," Dr. Baker said. "The people of India are so poor that the great mass of them live on the coarser grains, such as barley, rye, rice, etc. Wheat is eaten only by the wealthy people, and is grown largely for export, so that even in the face of famine it is better to export the wheat, and to use the money received in buying coarser grains, which the poor people are accustomed to eat."

"There are always good crops in some parts of India, and now with their modern railroad systems, the government is able to transport grain from one part to another, thus in some measure alleviating the rigor of famine."

"Just now famine is due very largely to our old friend, H. C. L. The cost of living in India has risen in proportion more than it has in America, and the people there are on a totally different economic basis, have had a frightful time of it. Until some readjustment in wages and living expense has been made, something akin to famine conditions is bound to obtain. If India can sell its wheat, which is comparatively a high priced product, to the outside world, the money obtained will help to solve great problems there."

Dr. Baker added he was "convinced that the great mass of people in India are satisfied with British rule, and under the new reform schemes, we are going to see India made tremendous advances."

SERIES CONTINUED

The series of addresses on the Pilgrim Fathers will be continued on Sunday evening in the Congregational church. Next Sunday the subject will be "The Conquest of the Pilgrim Spirit." The delegates to the coming celebration at Plymouth Rock are now on the water crossing the Atlantic and in the coming weeks there will be thousands of communities in the United States which will celebrate the Tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers.

TRAFFIC CONDITIONS ARE BAD IN ROUMANIA

Passengers Ride on Tops of Cars and on Trucks—Fare Same No Matter Where Passengers Ride.

Bucharest, Rumania.—(By the Associated Press.)—If Americans feel that their subways, railroads and trolley cars are crowded, conditions in Rumania and other parts of the Balkans are worse. Railroad traffic today in Rumania is so great that passengers ride on the roofs of every train by the hundreds. When the tops of the trains are so crowded that they can hold no more, the passengers cling to the running boards, ride on the bumpers and even on the under framework of the car. The fare is the same whether the passenger rides in a compartment or on the roof of the car. Accidents are frequent. Often when a train has entered a tunnel a number of passengers have been swept off the roof to their death.

The congested traffic is due to the small number of locomotives and coaches available and to insufficient trackage. Most of the country's rolling stock was carried off by the Germans or destroyed. Some of the locomotives and cars have been replaced, but the number is far from adequate. A large American locomotive concern has contracted to send a number of engines, here, taking in payment a quality of oil.

There are at present less than 2,000 locomotives in Rumania, including the newly-acquired provinces of Transylvania and Bessarabia. About half this number are in order. Most of them are of German or Hungarian construction. There is such a shortage of passenger coaches that box cars often are used for the conveyance of the public.

The total trackage in Greater Rumania is about 10,500 miles. This has to serve an area of nearly 300,000 square miles and a population of 18,000,000. Many of the steel rails are almost entirely worn out and the road beds are in need of major repairs. Rumanian railway officials say that American railroad men and engineers would do well to investigate business prospects in Rumania. Railroads must be constructed and others double-tracked. The country will require an enormous quantity of railroad supplies to re-equip and reconstruct the lines that suffered during the war. Bridges also must be built, canals cut and harbors extended.

EUROPEAN CITIES SURPASS THOSE OF U. S.

In Point of Cleanliness and Tidiness of Streets, According to American, Just Returned from Overseas.

NEW YORK.—(By The Associated Press.)—The large cities of Europe in the point of cleanliness and tidiness of streets are ahead of New York, Chicago, Cincinnati and many cities in America, says Clyde A. Copson, manager of the Anti-Litter Bureau of the Merchant's Association, who has just returned from a trip of observation in Europe. "In some sections of New York," he said, "I can see more street litter in one square block than in any one city I visited abroad. Paris and London are models of cleanliness and comparatively free of street litter of any description. This is due to the fact that the people abroad are much tidier than we who live in America."

"The city of New York countenances conditions that none of the cities which I visited would tolerate for a moment."

MONUMENT COMES AFTER FOUR YEARS

Committee Reorganized Several Times During the Period—
Leonard Crunelle's Life Story
Full of Interest.

The history of the Morgan county soldiers' monument is indeed interesting. For many years the matter had lain dormant, no one giving it any appreciable attention until at a meeting of Matt Star post, Grand Army of the Republic, March 16, 1916, Comrade W. H. Jordan brought up the subject and to him must be accorded the honor of originating the enterprise. He spoke earnestly in favor of the project and his address aroused much enthusiasm and on his motion a committee was named to begin the enterprise.

The first committee consisted of C. Riggs Taylor, C. E. McDougall, J. M. Swales and J. F. Self. Mr. Jordan was added and later T. B. Orear and Hassel Hopper and still later John E. Wright and S. W. Nichols of the post and Dr. C. H. Rammekamp and Judge M. T. Layman of the citizens. The committee organized with C. E.

McDougall, chairman; J. F. Self, vice-chairman; J. M. Swales, secretary; Hassel Hopper, assistant secretary; and C. Riggs Taylor, treasurer. When Capt. Swales removed to Chicago Hassel Hopper was made secretary and when Mr. Hopper died, Dr. C. H. Rammekamp was made secretary, and when Major McDougall died S. W. Nichols was chosen chairman.

Petition Easily Secured.
It was at first thought to raise the fund by popular subscription but as the law permitted counties to erect monuments by a voted taxation, provided a petition with 200 names was offered the authorities, that plan was suggested and nearly 1,200 names were secured. The proposition was placed on the ballots and the people cheerfully voted the money. February 17, 1917, the association presented a petition to the county board for permission to erect the said monument and the board passed the following:

"The board does hereby grant unto the said Morgan County Monument association the right, permission and privilege of erecting said monument or memorial building within the confines of said Central park.

"D. W. Wilson.
"W. F. Roegge.
"Charles S. Magill."

Acting on this authority the association advertised for plans, specifications and models, the latter on a scale of an inch to the foot, to be submitted, each designated by a cipher that no one might know the person or persons submitting the same. The plans were numbered and by a large majority the model numbered one was selected. The men submitting it were Morrison & Walker, architects, and Leonard Crunelle, artist, all of Chicago, and the beautiful structure in Central park is the result. It was completed and accepted October 30, 1920.

Granite From Georgia.
The granite is from Georgia and of a fine quality. The foundation was the work of Simeon Fernandes & Sons, and the work was superintended by J. K. C. Pierson, architect. Jacob Cohen figured largely in the hauling of the heavy material, the figures and statue and heavy derricks used in constructing the monument and elevating the pieces to their places.

Mention should also be made of the work of George Arthur & Son, who had charge of the erection of the monument. There was an important work and there is abundant evidence that it was well done.

Of Leonard Crunelle, artist who modeled the figure on top and the granite group and figures, showing such wonderful ability.

more than passing notice is due. Of him the "Craftsman," a periodical devoted to art, says:

Home In France.
Leonard Crunelle's earliest exhibited work—ah, there is a whole story back of that. The story of a little lad in Northern France, whose father was a miner in that very Courriere district which has since been the scene of such a terrible disaster. Yet life was not all labor in the miners' thatched cottages. The village had a band that played once a week in the square, a fountain where the women sang, and ecote communale to which little Leonard trotted contentedly every day, chattering his sabots along the poplar bordered road. In the school the child's talent for drawing was noticed, it was discussed under the thatch, sous le chaume; there was talk of making up a house in the community and sending the boy to study art in Paris. But then came emigration, and a transplanted French family earning a hard living in an Indiana coal mine where every one seemed to take advantage of their ignorance, and a bewildered boy of ten helping his father load coal to the limit of his puny strength.

When the family moved to Decatur things improved. By that time Leonard was drawing full pay; also he joined with a few other lads to form an amateur orchestra. In Decatur there was an opera house and in its gallery one eager youth thrilled to the art of Modjeska, of Jefferson, of Marlowe. Also there were drawing teachers; he became acquainted with one who had even been to Paris and talked of art!

A Chance to Grow.

West of the Alleghenies art practically dates back to the Columbian exposition in Chicago. Shortly before it was that a well-known sculptor delivered a lecture on art in Decatur. After his address some teachers of the town showed him drawings made by a young miner who was too bashful to come forward himself. He was of French birth, slow in his English speech, and had worked in a mine since he was ten years old. When he came to the surface on holidays he spent his time sketching or playing the violin. They thought, and the sculptor thought with them, that his gifts deserved a chance of growth in some more aesthetic environment.

Within six months a slender brown-eyed French youth was mixing plaster, moulding armatures, clearing away debris for sculptors, at work under the unfinished dome at Jackson Park, in that wonderful World's Fair summer. He was a humble recruit in the noble army of American artists who served there so joyously. He saw, heard, breathed, felt art. White palaces went up about him, statues took shape without their walls and decorations blossomed into color within. It was an intoxicating experience to the Decatur coal miner.

An Aid to Taft.

After the fair he worked at any job he could find daytimes and studied in the art institute night classes. He became a pupil and useful helper to Lorado Taft, his first sculptor friend. He never went back to handling the pick, but he did go back to Decatur. In those days of Sunday violin practice the amateur orchestra usually met under the roof of a kind and cultivated woman who possessed a piano and whose young daughter played with them. A boy and girl romance sprang up to a musical accompaniment, and then they married—imprudent young pair!—with no other wealth than youth and hope and talent. When a new-made father—scarcely out of the ranks of day laborers, scarcely out of his teens—Leonard Crunelle modeled with caressing hands a bust of his first baby and sent it to Chicago, the metropolis of art for the middle west.

And an artist jury to a man went down before the soft appealing little head; praised it and loved it, and gave it a good place in the exhibition at the art institute. Later that same baby bust went to the Cotton States exhibition at Atlanta, captured that art jury too, and won a medal for the young sculptor whose first work it was.

In Chicago.
On the strength of this first little success with Baby Marguerite, her brave parents came to Chicago. From the outset the young miner, so simple in his tastes, so willing to endure hardships, decided that he would not endure the contracted, ill-lit city flat which was all that they could afford. The world, he felt, owed him arrears of sun and air. A whole talk might be made of the winning of a modest country home; how Crunelle settled, how he gradually became able to buy it, cheap, with its bit of land; how he saved to buy a hand plow and made his fifty foot lot yield food for his family; how he built his studio shed with his own hands, his children helping; how his children help father make a garden, just as they help father make statues.

The Approval of Artists.
Out of the night that covered him Leonard Crunelle has made his way up. Today he is a sculptor whom other sculptors approve. And artists' approval is seldom moved by the romantic origin of a genius. The layman makes much outcry over such matters, but the artist or the critic looks only at the production. It is great, if it even holds promise of greatness, he is the first to acclaim it. But he is aggravatingly indifferent to the age, sex or previous condition of the producer.

In the man himself there is a freshness, a timidity as of a gentle woodland creature; something that means eternal youth. Altho he has been a father for a dozen years, he still looks a boy; he will always be a boy at heart. Perhaps that has a share in his ability to understand youth. "Except ye become as little children . . ."

City and County

Mr. and Mrs. John Conrady, son and daughter of Ulrich, Mo., are guests of their nephew, John Tomhave, and family, north of the city.

James Roach is over from the Soldiers' Home at Quincy for a visit and to enjoy the monument dedication exercises Monday.

F. H. Curtiss made a trip from Vaverty to the city yesterday.

Miss Gertrude Bergschneider was a traveler from Alexander to town yesterday.

George Schram was up to the city from Vaverty yesterday. C. Hyde was down to the city from Bloomington yesterday.

London, Leo Kameff, formerly Russian trade agent here was ordered by the British government to leave England, has arrived in Moscow and told the bolsheviks that the attitude of allied governments in Europe toward them has changed in accord with the situation on the Russian war fronts, say Russian advices.

"The supporters of intervention have again raised their heads," he said. "The Allies are making still one more effort to overthrow the soviet government and have staked everything on General Wrangel."

"On the day when Lloyd George told me to leave London," he stated, "the Bank of England started cashing General Wrangel's checks. A direct war against Russia is very unpopular in England and the working classes demand peace. Therefore Lloyd George did not decide to announce openly the alteration in his policy and even my departure was explained by that two excuses of financial assistance to a new labor newspaper and consular relations between soviet Russia and the Council of Action."

"The further course of events in England and Europe depends on the manner in which soviet Russia defeats Wrangel."

"The board does hereby grant unto the said Morgan County Monument association the right, permission and privilege of erecting said monument or memorial building within the confines of said Central park.

"D. W. Wilson, "W. F. Roegge, "Charles S. Magill."

Acting on this authority the association advertised for plans, specifications and models, the latter on a scale of an inch to the foot, to be submitted, each designated by a cipher that no one might know the person or persons submitting the same. The plans were numbered and by a large majority the model numbered one was selected. The men submitting it were Morrison and Walker, architects, and Leonard Crunelle, artist, all of Chicago, and the beautiful structure in central park is the result. It was completed and accepted October 30, 1920.

Granite From Georgia. The granite is from Georgia and of a fine quality. The foundation was the work of Simeon Fernandes & Sons, and the work was superintended by J. K. C. Pierson, architect. Jacob Cohen figured largely in the hauling of the heavy material, the figures and statue and heavy derricks used in constructing the monument and elevating the pieces to their places.

Mention should also be made of the work of George Arthur & Son, who had charge of the erection of the monument. Theirs was an important work and there is abundant evidence that it was well done.

Of Leonard Crunelle, artist who modeled the figure on top and the granite group and figures, showing such wonderful ability.

more than passing notice is due. Of him the "Craftsman," a periodical devoted to art, says:

Home In France.

Leonard Crunelle's earliest exhibited work—ah, there is a whole story back of that. The story of a little lad in Northern France, whose father was a miner in that very Courriere district which has since been the scene of such a terrible disaster. Yet life was not all labor in the miners' thatched cottages. The village had a band that played once a week in the square, a fountain where the women sang, and ecote communale to which little Leonard trotted contentedly every day, chattering his sabots along the poplar bordered road. In the school the child's talent for drawing was noticed. It was discussed under the thatch, some chame; there was talk of making up a bourse in the community and sending the boy to study art in Paris. But then came emigration, and a transplanted French family earning a hard living in an Indiana coal mine where every one seemed to take advantage of their ignorance, and a bewildered boy of ten helping his father load coal to the limit of his puny strength.

When the family moved to Decatur things changed. By that time Leonard was drawing full pay; also he joined with a few other lads to form an amateur orchestra. In Decatur there was an opera house and in its gallery one eager youth thrilled to the art of Modjeska, of Jefferson, of Marlowe. Also there were drawing teachers; he became acquainted with one who had even been to Paris and talked of art!

A Chance to Grow. West of the Alleghenies art practically dates back to the Columbian exposition in Chicago. Since before it was that a well-known sculptor delivered a lecture on art in Decatur. After his address some teachers of the town showed him drawings made by a young miner who was too bashful to come forward himself. He was of French birth, slow in his English speech, and had worked in a mine since he was ten years old. When he came to the surface on holidays he spent his time sketching or playing the violin. They thought and the sculptor thought with them that his gifts deserved a chance of growth in some more aesthetic environment.

Within six months a slender brown-eyed French youth was mixing plaster, mounting armatures, clearing away debris for sculptors, at work under the unfinished dome at Jackson Park, in that wonderful World's Fair summer. He was a humble recruit in the noble army of American artists who served there so joyously. He saw, heard, breathed, felt art. White palaces went up about him, statues took shape without their walls and decorations blossomed into color within. It was an intoxicating experience to the Decatur coal miner.

An Aid to Taft. After the fair he worked at any job he could find daytimes and studied in the art institute night classes. He became a pupil and useful helper to Lorado Taft, his first sculptor friend. He never went back to handling the pick, but he did go back to Decatur. In those days of Sunday violin practice the amateur orchestra usually met under the roof of a kind and cultivated woman who possessed a piano and whose young daughter played with them. A boy and girl romance sprang up to a musical accompaniment, and then they married—imprudent young pair!—with no other wealth than youth and hope and talent. When a new-made father—scarcely out of the ranks of day laborers, scarcely out of his teens—Leonard Crunelle modeled with care the hands a bust of his baby and sent it to Chicago, the metropolis of art for the middle west.

And an artist jury to a man went down before the soft appealing little head; praised it and loved it, and gave it a good place in the exhibition at the art institute. Later that same baby bust went to the Cotton States exhibition at Atlanta, captured that art jury too, and won a medal for the young sculptor whose first work it was.

In Chicago. On the strength of this first little success with Baby Marguerite, her brave parents came to Chicago. From the outset the young miner, so simple in his tastes, so willing to endure hardships, decided that he would not endure the contracted, ill-lit city flat which was all that they could afford. The world, he felt, owed him arrears of sun and air. A whole talk might be made of the winning of a modest country home; how Crunelle settled, how he gradually became able to buy it, cheap, with its bit of land; how he saved to buy a hand plow and made his fifty foot lot yield food for his family; how he built his studio shed with his own hands, his children helping; how his children help father make a garden, just as they help father make statues.

The Approval of Artists. Out of the night that covered him Leonard Crunelle has made his way up. Today he is a sculptor whom other sculptors approve. And artists' approval is seldom moved by the romantic origin of a genius. The layman makes much outcry over such matters, but the artist or the critic looks only at the production. It is great, if it even holds promise of greatness, he is the first to acclaim it. But he is aggravatingly indifferent to the age, sex or previous condition of the producer.

In the man himself there is a freshness, a timidity as of a gentle woodland creature; something that means eternal youth. Altho he has been a father for a dozen years, he still looks a boy; he will always be a boy at heart. Perhaps that has a share in his ability to understand youth. "Except ye become as little children * * *

"On the day when Lloyd George told me to leave London," he stated, "the Bank of England started cashing General Wrangel's checks. A direct war against Russia is very unpopular in England and the working classes demand peace. Therefore Lloyd George did not decide to announce openly the alteration in his policy and even my departure was explained by that two excuses of financial assistance to a new labor newspaper and consulant relations between soviet Russia and the Council of Action."

Illinois Defeats Monmouth; High School Downs Waverly

JACKSONVILLE WINS GAME FROM WAVERLY

Defeat Team From Southeast Part of the County by Score of 7 to 0—Game Was Hard Fought and Both Teams Fumbled Frequently.

Jacksonville high school defeated Waverly, high on Illinois field Saturday afternoon in one of the greatest games ever seen in this city by a score of 7 to 0.

The game was bitterly fought and seldom are two more evenly matched teams seen in battle. It seemed to us that Jacksonville outplayed Waverly throughout. The locals excelled in straight football which they used almost exclusively. Waverly excelled in forward passing and several times it looked as if they would get one away for a touchdown.

However, Coach Mitchell had drilled his men against this aerial attack and they broke up many of Waverly's passes or else downed the man who made the catch in his tracks.

Jacksonville's line displayed more "pep" than has been seen in any game this year. They kept up a constant cheering for the local players and when the final whistle sounded there was a wild display of enthusiasm.

It would be difficult to pick out individual players on the Jacksonville team. All of them played the best football they have shown this year. The line held well and Waverly was unable to gain consistently with line plays.

Hunt, playing at guard, did some great work and also did the punting until Alexander entered the game. Twice he got down the field after making the kick and downed the man with the ball.

Jacksonville's backfield did excellent work on offense, all of the men making good gains. Hopper playing his first game with the team, tore great holes in the Waverly line and scored Jacksonville's touchdowns. Arter, Alexander, Mitchell and Struck also did good work.

Not a man in the line failed in the test and H. Cockin and Gard were able to smother most of the visitors' end runs.

For Waverly, Bill Knight was whole team by himself. He does everything that a good football player should do. He can hit the line, run the ends and receive forward passes. He also is a great defensive player.

Bryan, Redfern, Gorman, Jarrett and Crum also did yeoman service.

Jacksonville Kicked Off.

At the opening of the game Jacksonville kicked to Waverly. Kicks were exchanged and Waverly finally fumbled and Jacksonville recovered on Waverly's 30 yard line. After hit tackle for 15 yards. Then by a series of line plays Jacksonville worked the ball down to Waverly's goal and Hopper went over for a touchdown. Hunt kicked goal. Score, Jacksonville 7, Waverly 0.

Jacksonville again kicked to Waverly and the ball was fumbled and Jacksonville recovered. A forward pass and a series of line plays and end-runs gave Jacksonville four first-downs and then the ball was fumbled and Waverly recovered.

Knight immediately tore off a 25-yard run before being downed. When the quarter ended Jacksonville had just held Waverly on her own 12-yard line. No scoring was done in the second quarter, the ball passing over repeatedly, neither team being able to gain. The half ended with the ball in Jacksonville's possession.

Waverly Scores.

Waverly kicked to Jacksonville at the beginning of the third quarter, Jacksonville made first down on a delayed pass. The ball was fumbled by Jacksonville on a similar play and Knight grabbed it and raced 40 yards for a touchdown. The goal was missed. Score Jacksonville 7, Waverly 6.

Both teams kicked frequently during the remainder of the quarter. Just before the quarter closed Jacksonville kicked and it was Waverly's ball.

Fourth Quarter.

Alexander took Mitchell's place at quarter. With the ball in the center of the field Waverly adopted the style used by Wesleyan against Illinois a week ago. They opened up a series of forward passes and many of them were completed. However, the local team spoiled a lot of them and were always able to get the ball and kick it out of danger.

Toward the end of the quarter Waverly fumbled and Hopper recovered the ball for a loss of 20 yards. The ball passed over a couple of times and finally Jacksonville got the ball and with but a few minutes to play, Alexander used his grey matter and out-guessed the Waverly team and Jacksonville had made three first downs when the final whistle blew. The line-up: Waverly H. Cockin, Jarrett, E. Arnold, Hughes, Hunt, Hobbs, Hackett, Colbert, G. Cockin, Harris, E. Bray, Kern, Gard, Crum, Mitchell, Gorman, Struck, Redfern, Hopper, Knight, Jacksonville scoring—Touchdown, Hopper. Goal from touchdown, Hunt.

Waverly scoring—Touchdown, Knight.

HARVARD-PRINCETON GAME RESULTS IN TIE

Second Strong Players Called In to Play by the Crimson Saved Them From Defeat—44,000 People Witness Game.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 6.—The Harvard football team converted a lost cause into an even issue today when it tied with the Princeton team at 14 points in the last period of their annual game.

A forward pass, last of a surprising series which had swept the Crimson colors down the field 73 yards while the Tigers futilely clawed the air in an effort to bring the ball down, alone saved Harvard from defeat.

Honors for the aerial advance and for the pass which was its crowning feat went to second string player, called into play after the regulars had proved unable to stop the Tigers. Buell at quarterback, Fitts at right half-back, and Macomber at end, worked out the Crimson salvation. The play was 16 yards from the Tigers' goal when Buell, slight of build, called out the signals. With the key number Macomber slipped past the Princeton defenders and raced behind their goal. The Crimson quarterback, who had received the ball, turned to evade a hot tie Tiger forward, then shot the pigskin in a rifling throw over the Princeton goal. Macomber had to run for it, but reached out got to it almost on his finger tips and brought it to the ground with Princeton players on top of him. A goal from touchdown then supplied the point by which the Crimson tied the game.

For daring in strategy and perfection of execution this series of plays will long stand as memorable to followers of the college gridiron game. There were 44,000 of their followers within the walls of the stadium today.

ILLINI PROVES TOO MUCH FOR CHICAGO

Ralph Fletcher, Sub for Left Half Back Peden Kicked a Field Goal at the Start of Second Period—32,000 People Witnessed the Contest—Big Crowd from University

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The light but tricky Illinois football eleven climbed a notch closer to the 1920 championship of the Western Conference by scoring a 3 to 0 triumph over Chicago today before 32,000 fans, the biggest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in Chicago.

Credit for the victory goes to Ralph Fletcher, diminutive half-back who booted a goal from placement at the 23-yard line at the start of the second period.

Illinois was superior to the crippled Chicago eleven in every department of the game. The brilliant forward passing of Walquist, Illinois right half to Carnegie at end, brought the huge crowd to its feet with an outburst of cheering a half dozen times. Walquist heaved passes for gains of 20 to 30 yards with consistent regularity.

Chicago never really threatened the Illinois goal, and for three periods played strictly a defensive game, covering the Orange and blue runners so that they were unable to make consistent gains.

Peden, who started the game at left half, later giving way to Ralph Fletcher got away for a thrilling 53 yard run in the first period, and Crangle, giant Illinois fullback also ploughed thru for line gains, including one dash of 18 yards.

With both teams fighting tenaciously, Illinois failed to come up to its expected scoring strength. The Maroons, despite their hospital list and frequent injuries during the game, were able to hold the Illinois down to comparatively small gains. Only once did Illinois threaten to crash over with a touchdown. This was near the close of the game, after a 25-yard pass and Illinois was held on the three-yard line. Walquist attempted to heave a pass for a touchdown but it missed its mark.

"JIMMY" BARNES DOES SOME DROP KICKING

Kicks Three Out of Four Against Monmouth, One From 38-Yard Line—Illinois Won Game 22 to 0.

"Jimmy" Barnes gave the Monmouth football team a lesson in the art of drop kicking in that city yesterday, when Illinois college defeated Monmouth by a score of 22 to 0.

Barnes kicked three straight goals, missing his fourth by a narrow margin. Two of the goals were kicked from between the 32 and 35 yard line, while the third was negotiated from the 38 yard line. The Monmouth spectators did not think much of the first drop kick but when Barnes put over two more they gave him an ovation. In addition to doing this work Barnes also ran well with the ball.

Illinois played some sterling football and made Coach Harmon's heart glad by the performance. Monmouth was outplayed thru and never had but one chance to score. This was in the first quarter. However, Illinois held and thereafter Monmouth never threatened.

At the beginning of the game Monmouth kicked off to Illinois. Illinois rushed the ball by straight football downs to Monmouth's ten-yard line, where Monmouth held. Just before the quarter closed Illinois should have scored a touchdown but Barnes' pass to Cully went wild.

Illinois first score came in the second quarter when Rogers fought his way thru the Monmouth line and with several tacklers hanging on went ten yards for a touchdown. The goal was missed. That was all the scoring done in the first half.

In the third quarter Barnes started on his kicking rampage. He kicked a goal from the 32-yard line making the score 9 to 0. In the fourth quarter he followed this up with a drop kick from the 24-yard line and then to top off his afternoon's work kicked one from the 38-yard line. His fourth attempt missed by inches.

With this lead Coach Harmon jerked his regulars and sent in all his second string men. Just to show the coach that they also had some class, the backfield put across two pretty forward passes, the second one being pulled down behind the goal line by Thurmon for a touchdown and goal was kicked. Illinois Defeats Monmouth; High School Downs Waverly

JACKSONVILLE WINS GAME FROM WAVERLY

Defeat Team From Southeast Part of the County by Score of 7 to 6—Game Was Hard Fought and Both Teams Fumbled Frequently.

Jacksonville high school defeated Waverly last afternoon in one of the greatest games ever seen in this city by a score of 7 to 6.

The game was bitterly fought and seldom are two more evenly matched teams seen in battle. It seemed to us that Jacksonville outplayed Waverly throughout. The locals excelled in straight football which they used almost exclusively. Waverly excelled in forward passing and several times it looked as tho they would get one away for a touchdown.

However, Coach Mitchell had drilled his men against this aerial attack and they broke up many of Waverly's passes or else downed the man who made the catch in his tracks.

Jacksonville's roster displayed more "pep" than has been seen in any game this year. They kept up a constant cheering for the local players and when the final whistle sounded there was a wild display of enthusiasm.

It would be difficult to pick out individual players on the Jacksonville team. All of them played the best football they have shown this year. The line held well and Waverly was unable to gain consistently with line plays.

First, playing at guard, did some great work and also did the punting until Alexander entered the game. Twice he got down the field after making the kick and downed the man with the ball.

Jacksonville's backfield did excellent work on offense, all of the men making good gains. Hopper playing his first game with the team, tore great holes in the Waverly line and scored Jacksonville's touchdown. Arter, Alexander, Mitchell and Struck also did good work.

Not a man in the line failed in the test and H. Cockin and Gard were able to smother most of the visitors' end runs.

For Waverly, Bill Knight was

HARVARD-PRINCETON GAME RESULTS IN TIE
Second Strong Players Called In to Play by the Crimson Saved Them From Defeat—44,000 People Witness Game.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 6.—The Harvard football team converted a lost cause into an even issue today when it tied with the Princeton team at 14 points in the last period of their annual game.

A forward pass, last of a surprising series which had swept the Crimson colors down the field 73 yards when the Tigers futilely clawed the air in an effort to bring the ball down, alone saved Harvard from defeat.

Honors for the aerial advance and for the pass which was its crowning feat, went to second string players. Called into play after the regulars had proved unable to stop the Tigers, Buell at quarterback, Filds at right half-back, and Macomber at end, worked out the Crimson salvation.

The play was 16 yards from the Tigers' goal when Buell, slight of build, called out the signals. With the key number Macomber flipped past the Princeton defenders and raced behind their goal.

The Crimson quarterback, who had received the ball, turned to evade a howling Tiger forward, then shot the pigskin in a rifling throw over the Princeton goal.

Macomber had to run for it, but reared out got to it almost on his finger tips and brought it to the ground with Princeton players on top of him. A goal from touchdown then supplied the points by which the Crimson tied the game.

For daring in strategy and perfection of execution this series of plays will long stand as memorable to followers of the college gridiron game. There were 44,000 of their followers within the walls of the stadium today.

ILLINI PROVES TOO MUCH FOR CHICAGO

Ralph Fletcher, Sub for Left Half Back Peden Kicked a Field Goal at the Start of Second Period—32,000 People Witnessed the Contest—Big Crowd from University

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The light but tricky Illinois football eleven climbed a notch closer to the 1920 championship of the Western Conference by scoring a 3 to 0 triumph over Chicago today before 32,000 fans, the biggest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in Chicago.

Credit for the victory goes to Ralph Fletcher, diminutive half-back who booted a goal from placement at the 23-yard line at the start of the second period.

Illinois was superior to the crippled Chicago eleven in every department of the game. The brilliant forward passing of Walquist, Illinois right half to Carney at end, brought the huge crowd to its feet with an outburst of cheering a half dozen times.

Walquist heaved passes for gains of 20 to 30 yards with consistent regularity. Chicago never really threatened the Illinois goal, and for three periods played strictly a defensive game, covering the Orange and blue runners so that they were unable to make consistent gains.

Peden, who started the game at left half, later giving way to Ralph Fletcher got away for a thrilling 53 yard run in the first period, and Crangle, giant Illinois fullback also ploughed thru for line gains, including one dash of 18 yards.

With both teams fighting tenaciously, Illinois failed to come up to its expected scoring strength. The Maroons, despite their hospital list and frequent injuries during the game, were able to hold the Illinois down to comparatively small gains. Only once did Illinois threaten to crash over with a touchdown.

This was near the close of the game, after a 25-yard pass and Illinois was held on the three-yard line. Walquist attempted to heave a pass for a touchdown but it missed its mark.

WISCONSIN DEFEATED MINNESOTA 3 TO 0

Davey Sub-Quarter for the Badgers Booted the Ball in a Drop Kick From the 20-Yard Line in the Third Period.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—Wisconsin rooters paraded the streets of Minneapolis tonight singing the name of Davey, their hero of a 3 to 0 victory by the Badgers over the Minnesota eleven on Northrup field this afternoon. For it was Davey, sent in as a substitute quarterback, who booted the ball in a drop kick from the 20-yard line squarely between the Minnesota goal posts in the third period for the only points of the game.

In the eyes of the Minnesota fans, however, another ill-fated gleam for the redoubtable Arnold Oss, his leg crippled and his strength frequently exhausted, played thru the game with outstanding brilliancy. Plays from punt formation, including darting forward passes, proved most successful in Wisconsin's attacks while off-tackle plunges or short end spurts, with Oss, the most consistent gainer, were Minnesota's principal reliance.

"JIMMY" BARNES DOES SOME DROP KICKING

Kicks Three Out of Four Against Monmouth, One From 38-Yard Line—Illinois Won Game 22 to 0.

"Jimmy" Barnes gave the Monmouth football team a lesson in the art of drop kicking in that city yesterday, when Illinois college defeated Monmouth by a score of 22 to 0.

Barnes kicked three straight goals, missing his fourth by a narrow margin. Two of the goals were kicked from between the 32 and 35 yard line, while the third was negotiated from the 38 yard line. The Monmouth spectators did not think so much of the first drop kick but when Barnes put over two more they gave him an ovation. In addition to doing this work Barnes also ran well with the ball.

Illinois played some sterling football and made Coach Harmon's heart glad by the performance. Monmouth was outplayed throughout and never had but one chance to score. This was in the first quarter. However, Illinois held and thereafter Monmouth never threatened.

At the beginning of the game Monmouth kicked off to Illinois. Illinois rushed the ball by straight football downs to Monmouth's ten-yard line, where Monmouth held. Just before the quarter closed Illinois should have scored a touchdown but Barnes' pass to Cully went wild.

Illinois first score came in the second quarter when Rogers fought his way thru the Monmouth line and with several tacklers hanging on went ten yards for a touchdown. The goal was missed. That was all the scoring done in the first half.

In the third quarter Barnes started on his kicking rampage. He kicked a goal from the 32-yard line making the score 9 to 0. In the fourth quarter he followed this up with a drop kick from the 24-yard line and then to top off his afternoon's work kicked one from the 38-yard line. His fourth attempt missed by inches.

With this lead Coach Harmon jockeyed his regulars and sent in all his second string men. Just to show the coach that they also had some class, the backfield put across two pretty forward passes, the second one being pulled down behind the goal line by Thurmon for a touchdown and goal was kicked. SMITH PLANS FOR COMING SEASON

Manager of Indies Will Make Improvements During the Winter and Early Spring — Expresses Appreciation.

The Indies season for 1920 closed a week ago today when the team defeated Charley White's Athletics by a score of 6 to 0.

During the season just closed the Indies had one of the hardest schedules in their history. Some of the strongest teams in this part of the state were played. The total number of games played was twenty-five of which 16 were won and eight lost.

Manager Frank Smith should be given credit for his efforts to give fans good baseball. Last spring he began under great difficulties to get a park ready. During the early spring he encountered much bad weather and the result was several good playing Sundays in the early spring were lost.

In spite of this he went ahead and by close figuring broke even during the year. He stated Friday that he wished to thank the fans and the press for their loyal support.

He expects to begin work on the grounds at once and will level the field and drag the hill in left and right fields down onto the diamond and into center field. Another grand stand will be erected and also additional bleachers to accommodate the crowds. It is hoped to have everything in good shape for the opening next spring.

Smith announced that most if not all of the old men had signed up for next year and a number of new prospects will be tried out. He expects to book exhibition games with a number of big league clubs.

on their way home from spring training trips.

It will be necessary to ask the fans to subscribe funds next year as it will be necessary to purchase new uniforms for next season. If the fans show by their support that they want baseball Manager Smith will endeavor to land a berth in some minor league after next season. The averages for the season will be given out soon.

SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE NOTES.

The League is very happy in securing the services of Miss Jennings for the next few weeks. She is a member of the staff of the Associated Charities in Springfield and is loaned to us to help over the emergency.

"Is this an employment bureau?" anxiously inquired a woman who was sent to us the other day in search of work. No it is not strictly. The able-bodied, full-time workers seldom come to us; our people are apt to be of the sort which the war classified as "limited service men." Of this class there is scarcely a week passes that we do not find places for one or more.

At the risk of being compared to the daughters of the horse-beach in the book of Proverbs we are going to give you once again a list of some of our present needs.

In the clothing line children's and women's underwear and boys and girls school shoes; worn flannel and percale dresses which will have enough good in the skirts to make aprons; bright colored pieces enough to make collars and cuffs for girls' dresses.

About 20 whole plates and the same number of cups, glasses and spoons.

We have a nice sunny window in which we would be glad to keep a fern for some one who has no room for it.

Mrs. Harriet Evans of Portland, Ore., has returned to her home after spending a pleasant visit with her aunt, Mrs. W. P. Waterfield, 314 West College avenue.

DEDICATION.

Tell them of deeds of bravery done,
Of stars that are brighter for victories won.

Call them together and names whisper low,
Of those heroes of ours who fell long ago,
Defending Old Glory and sending her home
Where long she has waved o'er steeple and dome.

Call them together, nor longer delay

While the wild drums were beating and calling afar,

Give joy to the hearts that have waited so long.

AUTO COLLISION

Yesterday afternoon at the northeast corner of the square J. W. Davis of Woodson was driving along East Court street when he saw almost in front of him two women and to avoid striking them he had to run his car against the Gravel Springs Company's truck. The truck was little if any damaged but Mr. Davis' car was somewhat mutilated. From all that could be ascertained it seemed that the women were most at fault as Mr. Davis sounded his horn properly.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES.

Mr. H. H. Bancroft '98 delivered a lecture on Practical Politics to the class in political science a few days ago.

Bulletin No. 3 was recently sent to all alumni and former students in connection with the campaign for New Endowment. As a result, additional subscriptions are being received at the college office, among them was a recent subscription of $500 from a member of the class of '89.

Miss Belting, who is in the city in the interest of the Red Cross survey of Morgan county recently held a conference with several of the Illinois College professors. The college classes in social science and education have been asked to co-operate in making the survey.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the plans for the organization of a band among the students. The leaders of the movement are William Russell Pinkerton and Floyd Lashmett.

News recently came to the president's office of the death of James G. McClung '63 of Pueblo, Colo. Mr. McClung was the only surviving member of the class of '63. Indeed, no students were graduated from the College that year because the seniors had all left to enter the army. However, Mr. McClung was restored to his class and given a degree during the administration of President Barnes. Mr. McClung was always greatly interested in his alma mater.

Word has also been received of the death of Warren R. Crandall, a former student of Whipple Academy. He was in the Academy from 1859 to 1860. Mr. Crandall attained the rank of major in the Civil war.

The students have petitioned the faculty for a holiday on Armistice Day.

Professor Francis I. Molas, of the department of history and political science, gave a very interesting lecture on Siberia at the chapel exercises recently. Prof.

Moate was a first lieutenant in Siberia during the recent war.

John Collier '80 was recently appointed city manager of Beaufort, South Carolina.

W. D. Wood '72 was in town during the past week. Mr. Wood is acting as chairman of a committee of the Phi Alpha Literary society which is endeavoring to raise a fund to memorialize certain prominent Phis in the Alumni Fund association.

Dr. F. C. Noyes gave an interesting talk on oral hygiene at the chapel exercises Friday morning.

Franklin Scott '22 gave an oration in chapel Tuesday morning on subject Friends or Enemies. He left Thursday evening to enter the State Intercollegiate Oratorical association contest at Naperville where he will deliver the same oration. Accompanying him were, Bernard Frazer '23, Ed. Theis '22 as student delegates to the convention. Homer Thompson '21 is vice president of the State association. Hugh Wilson '24 also accompanied the boys.

John Martin '20 has accepted a position as instructor in physics at the Case School of Applied Science at Cleveland, Ohio.

Rev. Ray Ragan, '22 will lead the devotional services at Academy Hall Sunday evening at 6:30. The subject for his talk will be The Religious Side of a Well Rounded College Life.

WOUNDED MAN IMPROVES

Everett Kent, who was injured in a shooting affray in Nortonville last Monday and has since been at assaunt hospital, was reported as in satisfactory condition yesterday. Friday and Saturday were the critical days for him and it is believed that the wounded man now has a chance for recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Salyers, who have been visiting Mr. Salyers' parents in Platt county, arrived in the city on their way to their home in Greeley, Colorado, and while here visited their aunt, Mrs. A. C. Foster.

If you are skimming cream from your milk by the old-fashioned method, you are losing fully $20.00 a year for every cow. A Primrose cream separator saves all the cream.

If there were no other advantages, this one would make the Primrose a paying investment. It is equal to feeding three cows and getting a profit from four.

Separator Cream Brings Better Price

Separator Cream is in better condition because it is separated from the milk immediately after milking. Gravity-raised cream is at least 12 hours old before it is skimmed. As a result, the skim-milk is old, cold, and in many cases sour and unfit for feeding young calves. Gravity-raised cream is thin and sours more quickly than separator cream. Separator cream is always of a uniform grade and can be regulated to any degree of richness. This means a regular income from its sale, whereas there is a great variation in the income from hand-skimmed cream.

Separator Conserves Soil Fertility

Where a separator is used and skimmed milk fed to calves and pigs, practically none of the fertility of the soil leaves the farm. It has been proved by repeated experiments that dairymen improve the farm more than any other line. It costs less to produce a ton of butter than it does to produce a ton of wheat. A ton of wheat takes $3 worth of fertility from the soil; a ton of butter only $1.50 worth. Wheat is worth approximately $2.50 a ton; butter fat is worth $1.40 a ton. Which do you think would pay you better to produce?

Separator Saves Work

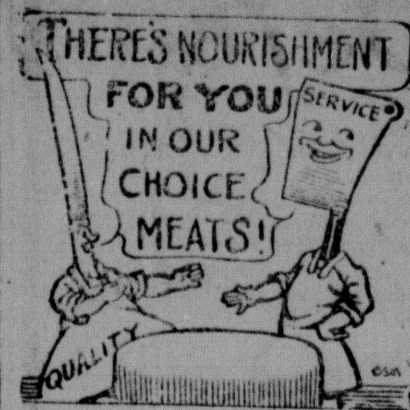

The Primrose can be thoroughly cleaned in a very few minutes, whereas the washing and scalding of pans and crocks in which cream is raised by gravity requires perhaps hours of the housewife's time, besides much lifting.

The true value proven by our liberal terms and extra good Service. We are here to please the Farmer and give him full value for each Dollar. Allow us the pleasure of showing you the great point of superiority found only in the Primrose Cream Separator.

SMITH PLANS FOR COMING SEASON

Manager of Indians Will Make Improvements During the Winter and Early Spring — Expresses Appreciation.

The Indians season for 1920 closed a week ago today when the team defeated Charley White's Athletics by a score of 6 to 0. During the season just closed the Indians had one of the hardest schedules in their history. Some of the strongest teams in this part of the state were played. The total number of games played was twenty-five of which 16 were won and eight lost.

Manager Frank Smith should be given credit for his efforts to give fans good baseball. Last spring he began under great difficulties to get a park ready. During the early spring he encountered much bad weather and the result was several good playing Sundays in the early spring were lost.

In spite of this he went ahead and by close figuring broke even during the year. He stated Saturday that he wished to thank the fans and the press for their loyal support.

He expects to begin work on the grounds at once and will level the field and drag the hill in left and right fields down onto the diamond and into center field. Another grand stand will be erected and also additional bleachers to accommodate the crowds. It is hoped to have everything in good shape for the opening next spring.

Smith announced that most of the old men had signed up for next year and a number of new prospects will be tried out. He expects to book exhibition games with a number of big league clubs on their way home from spring training trips.

It will be necessary to ask the fans to subscribe funds next year as it will be necessary to purchase new uniforms for next season. If the fans show by their support that they want baseball Manager Smith will endeavor to land a berth in some minor league after next season. The averages for the season will be given out soon.

SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE NOTES.

The League is very happy in securing the services of Miss Jennings for the next few weeks. She is a member of the staff of the Associated Charities in Springfield and is loaned to us to help over the emergency.

"Is this an employment bureau?" anxiously inquired a woman who was sent to us the other day in search of work. No, it is not strictly. The able-bodied, full-time workers seldom come to us; our people are apt to be of the sort which the war classified as "limited service men." Of this class there is scarcely a week passes that we do not find places for one or more.

At the risk of being compared to the daughters of the horse-beach in the book of Proverbs we are going to give you once again a list of some of our present needs.

In the clothing line children's and women's underwear and boys and girls school shoes; worn flannel and percale dresses which still have enough good in the skirts to make aprons; bright colored pieces enough to make collars and cuffs for girls' dresses.

About 20 whole plates and the same number of cups, glasses and spoons.

We have a nice sunny window in which we would be glad to keep a fern for some one who has no room for it.

Mrs. Harriet Evans of Portland, Ore., has returned to her home after spending a pleasant visit with her aunt, Mrs. W. P. Waterfield, 314 West College avenue.

DEDICATION.

Call them together, the scattering few.
Boys of the '60's, who dressed in the blue;
Tell them of deeds of bravery done,
Of stars that are brighter for victories won.

Call them together and names whisper low,
Of those heroes of ours who fell long ago,
Defending Old Glory and sending her home
Where long she has waved o'er steeple and dome.

Call them together, nor longer delay
To honor our boys who once marched away
While the wild drums were beating and calling afar,
"Ye sons of Columbia bring back every star."

Call them together where marble shaft grey
And tablet of bronze engraven for aye,
Is telling the names of the loyal and true,

FOURTH ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Will Begin on Armistice Day and Continue Until November 25—Preconceived of Membership Committee.

Plans are rapidly maturing for the fourth annual roll call of the Red Cross in Morgan county. Beginning on Armistice Day, November 11th, the campaign will continue until November 25th, giving every citizen in the county the opportunity of renewing their membership in this organization.

The Morgan county chapter of the American Red Cross is composed of the local chapter in the city and the ten branches in the towns in the county. The executive committee has appointed Earl M. Spink as county chairman and the following appointments have been made for the membership campaign:

Chairman Jacksonville and South Jacksonville residence section—Miss Mary Wadsworth. 1st Ward—Mrs. John Perry. 2nd Ward—Mrs. W. T. Capps. 3rd Ward—Miss Anne Harmon. 4th Ward—Mrs. H. A. Chapin. South Jacksonville—Mrs. Ben Lorton.

Branches. Alexander—Mrs. J. W. Robertson. Chapin—F. W. Schultis. Concord—Alfred Brockhouse. Franklin—Miss Alice Criswell. Litterberry—James Petefish. Lynnville—Fred Scholtz. Mayfield—Mrs. James Galoway. Murrayville—Mrs. Ruth Robinson. Waverly—George Coe. Woodson—Mrs. Chester Colton.

The solicitors are being appointed for the work in sufficient number that the campaign should be completed within a short time. The fact that the Red Cross has done such a large work since the war locally, and is at present making a survey of the county with future work in mind, is doing much to bring home to people the value of an active Red Cross organization.

The active campaign in Jacksonville will likely not open until Friday, Nov. 12th. This will be preceded by a gathering of the city workers and solicitors at the Christian workers and solicitors at the Christian church for supper at 6 p. m., Nov. 11th, when the work of the campaign will be gone over and the work of the Red Cross will be more fully explained.

The directors of the Morgan County Red Cross are: T. M. Conlinson, chairman; H. M. Capps, vice chairman; Barr Brown, treasurer; Mrs. F. J. Heintz, secretary; E. E. Crabtree, Earl Spink, M. F. Dunlap, W. E. Collins, F. J. Waddell, W. L. Fay, Mrs. J. W. Clary, Mrs. Ralph Dunlap, E. J. Andrews, C. H. Rammelkamp, Mrs. Andrew Russell, Henry Frisch, Mrs. C. A. Barnes, M. L. Pontius, Dr. C. E. Black, Mrs. O. F. Buffe, Miller Weir, Dr. Grace Dewey, J. J. Kelley, V. R. Riley, E. J. Rodgers, Mrs. W. T. Wilson, E. P. Brockhouse, Dr. F. A. Norris.

CHICKEN THIEVES ABROAD. Friday night there were some determined efforts to get some fried chicken unlawfully, but with only moderate success. In the vicinity of Woodson, John Ray thinks he was visited twice, the first time the thief getting some fowls, but he was greedy and returned for more when he was met with a shotgun and skipped out leaving the rack into which he meant to put the fowls.

The alarm was telephoned all up and down the road and people were on the lookout, so no more thefts were ascertained as far as heard from.

URANIA LODGE IN ANNUAL BANQUET

Will be Held on Thursday Evening at the Large Hall—Interesting Program Prepared.

The members of Urania lodge No. 243, I. O. O. F., will hold their annual banquet at Odd Fellows Hall on West State street, Thursday evening, November 11th. The date was fixed by the committee with a view of properly observing Armistice Day.

The coming event is the annual booster banquet, which will be preceded by an evening of entertainment and social enjoyment. It is one of the red letter days in local Odd Fellow circles. The booster committee promises some new and enlivening features this year and are endeavoring to surpass anything had in former years.

Each member of the lodge is entitled to bring with him a young man who is interested in Odd Fellowship, and it goes without saying that no invitation will be turned down by any person lucky enough to be invited.

Urania lodge has just passed its sixty-third birthday, being instituted on October 7th, 1857. The last charter member, W. D. Crowell passed away about three years ago. Thirty-one of the members have been Odd Fellows for more than forty years.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows was founded by Thomas Willday in Baltimore, Maryland in 1819, and has rounded out a full century of usefulness. It is known throughout the United States as an active, live order, and numbers only the best people of the various communities in its membership. Odd Fellows are scattered over the world, and in many foreign countries Odd Fellow lodges are readily found. Thomas Willday, himself, in 1838 instituted Illini Lodge No. 4 in Jacksonville. In Morgan county, alone, there are twelve Odd Fellow lodges, and the combined membership totals almost two thousand members.

There are three degrees in an Odd Fellow lodge in addition to the initiatory degree. After a member has taken the third degree he is entitled to join the Encampment branch of Odd Fellowship. There are three encampments in Morgan county, two in Jacksonville and one at Meredosia. There are three degrees in the Encampment.

Urania Lodge has had a steady growth, especially in the last eight or ten years and now numbers more than four hundred and fifty members. Its finances are in a healthy state, the property of the lodge being valued at about eight thousand dollars and consists largely of Liberty bonds and War Saving stamps.

The booster committee is composed of William E. Thomson, Maurice Peckham and Charles H. Goody, ably assisted by many of the other members. The committee will make final arrangements at the regular meeting Monday evening and expect a large attendance in order to get everything in shape for the big event.

The degree staff, captained by Ellis E. Henderson, has gained an enviable reputation not only in Morgan county but in this section of Illinois, and expects to soon be ready for conferring of the various degrees.

Beginning on Armistice Day, November 11th, the campaign will continue until November 25th giving every citizen in the county the opportunity of renewing their membership in this organization. The Morgan county chapter of the American Red Cross is composed of the local chapter in this city and the ten branches in the towns in the county. The executive committee has appointed Earl M. Nov. 11th, when the work of the campaign will be gone over and the work of the Red Cross will be more fully explained.

TRAIN HITS TRACTOR. The Chicago & Alton train No. 15 due in Jacksonville at 10:50 a. m. struck a tractor just as it was approaching Stanford Saturday morning and did some damage to the tractor but the train was more damaged as all the steps on the right hand side of the train were torn off, and passengers had to get on and off on the other side. The engineer said it looked to him like the driver of the tractor drove it up on the track to look to see if the train was coming, and when he saw the train coming so close he made tracks for a cornfield that was close by and was still running when the train stopped.

CHICKEN THIEVES ABROAD Friday night there were some tried efforts to get some fried chicken unlawfully, but with only moderate success. In the vicinity of Woodson, John Ray thinks he was visited twice, the first time the thief getting some fowls, but he was greedy and returned for more when he was met with a shotgun and skipped out leaving the sack into which he meant to put the fowls.

The alarm was telephoned all up and down the road and people were on the lookout, so no more thefts were ascertained as far as heard from.

MAKE APPEAL FOR EUROPEAN CHILDREN

Sunday School Board of M. E. Church Asks Members to Devote Christmas Offerings to Send Food and Clothing to Europe.

CHICAGO. — (By Associated Press)—The Board of Sunday School of the Methodist Episcopal church is sending out an appeal to its 4,500,000 Sunday School members to devote their Christmas offerings this year to sending food, clothing, medicine and other relief to the suffering children of Europe. Announcement is made from headquarters in Chicago.

Bishop John L. Nelson, a member of the International Committee for the Relief of Children who recently returned to this country from Zurich, Switzerland, says the outlook for the coming winter in the needier sections of Europe is dark.

"Those countries before the war could not support their own populations but were depending upon imports of provisions," he said. "South Russia, which supplied large sections of Europe with grain is not in a position to support its own population. These countries have no gold to buy grain from Australia or America. They can't manufacture goods for export because they have not enough raw material or coal and they have no credit."

"If you draw a line north thru the devastated area of Belgium and south thru the entire continent and then travel east thru Albania, Albania, Montenegro, Slovakia, Macedonia and Greece to Turkey and then travel north thru Serbia, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Austria, Rumania, South Germany and on thru north Germany, Poland, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia into Russia, thru Russia to Siberia and south into Asia Minor and Syria, Armenia and Mesopotamia, you will find in that vast territory hardly one child in a thousand which is not under normal either physically, mentally or morally."

Bishop Nelson added that thru out all the war-swept and famine-stricken sections of Europe the teachers in the schools find the children are so undernourished that it is a physical impossibility for many of them to concentrate their attention upon school work for even three hours per day.

R. H. Norton, traveling passenger agent from the A. T. & S. F. railroad, was in the city Saturday looking after the interests of his road.

TWO BIG EVENTS OF PATRIOTISM HERE THIS WEEK

Soldiers' Monument to Be Dedicated Monday—Armistice Day Celebration Thursday.

Two great patriotic ceremonies are scheduled for Jacksonville the coming week. On Monday afternoon the Civil war veterans' monument in Central park will be unveiled and dedicated. On Thursday, which is Armistice or Victory day, a patriotic ceremony will be held in memory of those who sacrificed their lives in the World war, and memorial trees will be planted along Victory Drive bordering Lake Manatee.

Considerable has been said of these two events, but too much publicity cannot be given them. Both events are of countywide interest, because it was Morgan county that built the monument in Central park, and a tree in memorial of every Morgan county soldier of the World war who died in service will be planted on Thursday.

Dedication of the soldiers' monument will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Central park should be crowded with persons eager to hear tributes to the veterans whose speakers will offer. The program for this event was published Friday.

Plans for the Armistice day celebration have not been completed, but will be announced shortly. City officials have proclaimed a half day holiday and business houses will close in the afternoon. It has been asked by the committee that all schools close in the afternoon, so that students may attend.

It has been announced that members of the Elks lodge have transportation plans in charge. Automobiles for those who wish to use them will meet street cars at the State Hospital gate between 1:15 and 1:45 o'clock in the afternoon for the accommodation of women and children. The ceremonies will start at 2 o'clock.

There will be a meeting of all the committee representatives of societies and clubs and every one connected with arranging the details for Armistice day with the Service Star Legion's officers Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. at the public library.

"Mother" likes it because it "takes the 'Ake' out of bake." Oven just the right height—no tireome stooping, as with the low-oven range.

Here Are the Things You'll Like About the Leonard

The oven is just the right height for convenience—no back-breaking stooping, as with the ordinary low-oven range. It's the range that takes the "Ake" out of bake. Consumes less fuel and saves time. The oven begins to heat the moment the fire is lighted—no wasted heat up the chimney while the fire is getting started. The oven heats evenly on four sides—no need to turn the baking and no necessity for opening the oven door until the baking is done. Eliminates baking failures. Occupies less space than a low-oven range—a decided advantage in a small kitchen. Heater type body keeps the kitchen cozy, and a room or two besides. Holds fire over night.

Before You Buy ANY Range, See the Leonard Hi-Oven

We'll take pleasure in telling you more about it. We want you to see its sturdy construction and handsome finish, and to compare it point by point with other types of ranges. You'll be quick to appreciate its advantages, because it overcomes the inconveniences you've always had to contend with in the low-oven range. See the Leonard Hi-Oven first. You'll be delighted with its convenience and economy—particularly so when you find it costs no more than any other high grade range.

TELLS OF EARLY ILLINOIS SETTLERS

Officers of Rev. James Caldwell Chapter D. A. R. Receive Interesting Letters—Tell of Pre-vost Family.

At the recent meeting of Rev. James Caldwell Chapter D. A. R., two letters were read that proved of great interest to the members. These letters were written by Mrs. J. E. Knight of Willows, Calif., whose grandfather, George Tuckerman Purkitt, came to Morgan county in 1831. He attended school at Illinois College with Richard Yates the famous war governor of Illinois.

He was married to Miss Henrietta Prevost. Augustine J. Prevost was the great grandfather of Mrs. Knight and by a strange coincidence he is buried on the Fairbank lot in Diamond Grove cemetery. Prevost was a step-son of Aaron Burr.

Mrs. Knight enclosed a check with her letter to Miss Fairbank for tablets in the Chapter Memorial home for her grandfather and grandmother.

Mrs. J. H. Osborne has provided a tablet for her mother, Mrs. Sarah Parker Hitt. Mrs. Nannie Hitt Mathews had already provided for a tablet for Mr. Hitt. The Askew family have also provided for a tablet to the memory of J. R. Askew.

The letters from Mrs. Knight are given hereunder:

Willows, Calif.,
Sept. 21, 1920.
Miss Minnie W. Cleary,
Historian Rev. James Caldwell Chapter,
Jacksonville, Ill.

Dear Miss Cleary:
As Historian of Willows Chapter D. A. R., the program of which I enclose, I am taking the liberty of writing you concerning your report in the August issue of the Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine. In your report you write of the purchase of the Governor Joseph Duncan house for a chapter house, and of the installing of tablets therein in memory of pioneers of Morgan county, etc.

I was deeply interested in your article and desire to have you ascertain if the following facts will allow you to put in a tablet in memory of my grandfather and grandmother.

My grandfather George Tuckerman Purkitt, came west from Boston to Illinois in 1831. He attended Jacksonville College with Richard Yates, your famous war governor. On the 2th of November, 1836, he married Miss Henrietta Prevost, at the old Prevost homestead about 15 miles southwest of Jacksonville. My grandfather after my grandmother's death married a widow, Mrs. Phimelia Garbutt and lived some years in Pittsfield, Pike Co., Ill.

Somewhere in the early '40's my grandparents buried their only daughter, Ann Louisa Purkitt, in the Rentschler school yard in Morgan county. They are buried in Mt. Sterling cemetery.

As my father came west in 1862 and settled near this town, where I was born in 1830, my knowledge of my grandparents was gained only thru correspondence, photographs and reminiscences of my father. They were highly religious, Baptists and good people, as you can probably confirm. My grandfather, Frederick Prevost, went into Illinois when it was in a primitive state, living in a large log house.

Thanking you for any information you can give me and asking your kind forgiveness for this seeming intrusion, I beg to remain,

Fraternally yours,
(Mrs. J. E.) Edna L. Knight,
R. R. A. Box 25,
Willows, Calif.

Willows, Calif.,
Oct. 22, 1920.

Dear Miss Fairbank:

Your good letter of the 4th instant has brought me much happiness. I can assure you. Nothing inspiring in recent years has more truly convinced me of an all-seeing Providence, than have the incidents connected with and disclosed by your letter. I flatter myself that He who marks the sparrow's fall has also seen fit to direct me to you.

In this you will agree, I am sure, when I tell you, after reading your letter, I felt that somewhere before I had heard of Miss S. F. Ellis in connection with grandpa's letters. Upon searching thru a bundle of his correspondence, carefully preserved, thru all these years, I find a letter from this Miss Sue F. Ellis, written to my beloved Aunt Lottie (Charlotte Purkitt) the year before I was born. This letter, in memory of their life-long friendship, and strange to say, it and one from a Rev. A. Dunlap are the only letters from outsiders in the packet.

So can you wonder that I must ascribe this to something higher than mere earthly coincidence? I will write her very soon as I feel I have found in you and her friends bordering on kinship. Whenever I think of your letter I am strangely stirred. To think my letter of inquiry should come to the hands of one who has my great-grandfather buried in their family burial plot? We have often heard that Truth is strange—stranger than fiction, and verily it is so.

I lost no time in showing your good letter to all members of my family (mother, sisters and brother) residing near me. I have two sisters, Mrs. Georgia Purkitt Henley and Mrs. Rebecca Terrill Lambert, whose name are on the D. A. R. program sent you; one brother, Claude F. Purkitt, an attorney of this place and at present our state senator from this the 4th senatorial district; and another brother, Theodore R. Purkitt, is a druggist of Wood-Purkitt, is a druggist 60 miles south of us on the I. P. main line.

To say they were greatly pleased and interested in your letter is putting it mildly. I am enclosing cards, together with check on bank of Willows, in the sum of $20.00 for tablets in memory of grandpa and grandma Purkitt. Later when I can secure the necessary data I will write you about tablets for my great grandparents.

Since writing you I found a letter of my father's to cousin Hattie R. Watkins of St. Louis, Mo., (Aunt Charlotte's youngest daughter) in which he says his little sister Anna Louisa was buried in the Rentschler school yard near Concord, Morgan county, Ill. I had the name wrong, you see. I will try and get the exact date when great grandpa A. J. F. Prevost went into Illinois, as I want this date also for my grandmother Purkitt's tablet.

You cannot know how grateful I feel toward you for your nice letter and the interest you have expressed therein. Rest assured, I will carefully preserve it among my most treasured possessions. Words fail to convey my appreciation and kindly feeling for you. I trust we may be able to know each other better as some future date. Should so love to have you visit me if ever you come to California.

I have three boys—John Richard Tiffie, aged 13 years today; George Purkitt, aged 11 years the 11 of this month, and Terrill Poage, aged 2 years the 6th of the coming November, so you see I have my hands full. Again I must thank you for your kind interest in my behalf.

Hoping this finds you in good health and with best wishes for the success of your chapter work, I am,

Yours very gratefully,
Edna L. Knight.

LETTER FROM MR. BOSTON

The canvass of the election returns shows that I have been defeated for re-election to the office of the Circuit Clerk yet there are many gratifying features as well as many disappointments connected therewith. The fact that the County gave the head of the Republican ticket a majority of 3,724 yet I lost only by 363 votes shows that I ran about 3,300 ahead of my party leaders and the returns also show that I received 88 votes by the men voters more than my opponent and that I lost the election by the women's votes.

I wish to express my gratitude to the Democrats who loyally supported me and also to the many hundred Republicans and members of other parties of both sexes who regarded me as worthy of their influence and their votes. And I wish especially to thank my many friends and neighbors of my home precinct of Lynnville for the most splendid vote of confidence and approval given me by those who grew up with me and have known me all my life.

All these evidences of confidence shown without regard to party lines cause me to feel that my efforts have been worth while and that my defeat was wholly and entirely the result of the overwhelming landslide that extended from ocean to ocean.

Respectfully,
C. W. BOSTON.

TELLS OF EARLY ILLINOIS SETTLERS

Officers of Rev. James Caldwell Chapter D. A. R. Receive Interesting Letters—Tell of Pre-vost Family.

At the recent meeting of Rev. James Caldwell Chapter D. A. R., two letters were read that proved of great interest to the members. These letters were written by Mrs. J. E. Knight of Willows, Calif., whose grandfather, George Tuckerman Purkitt, came to Morgan county in 1831. He attended school at Illinois College with Richard Yates the famous war governor of Illinois.

He was married to Miss Henrietta Prevost, Augustine J. F. Prevost was the great grandfather of Mrs. Knight and by a strange coincidence he is buried on the Fairbank lot in Diamond Grove cemetery. Prevost was a step-son of Aaron Burr.

Mrs. Knight enclosed a check with her letter to Miss Fairbank for tablets in the Chapter Memorial home for her grandfather and grandmother.

Mrs. J. H. Osborne has provided a tablet for her mother, Mrs. Sarah Parker Hitt. Mrs. Nannie Hitt Mathews had already provided for a tablet for Mr. Hitt. The Askew family have also provided for a tablet to the memory of J. R. Askew.

The letters from Mrs. Knight are given hereunder:

Miss Minnie W. Cleary,
Historian, Rev. James Caldwell Chapter,
Jacksonville, Ill.

Dear Miss Cleary:
As Historian of Willows Chapter D. A. R., the program of which I enclose, I am taking the liberty of writing you concerning your report in the August issue of the Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine. In your report you write of the purchase of the Governor Joseph Duncan house for a chapter house, and of the installing of tablets therein in memory of pioneers of Morgan county, etc.

I was deeply interested in your article and desire to have you ascertain if the following facts will allow you to put in a tablet in memory of my grandfather and grandmother.

My grandfather, George Tuckerman Purkitt, came west from Boston to Illinois in 1831. He attended Jacksonville College with Richard Yates, your famous war governor. On the 2nd of November, 1836, he married Miss Henrietta Prevost, at the old Prevost homestead about 15 miles southwest of Jacksonville. My grandfather after my grandmother's death married a widow, Mrs. Phineas Garbutt and lived some years in Pittsfield, Pike Co., Ill.

Somewhere in the early '40's my grandparents buried their only daughter, Ann Louisa Purkitt, in the Rentschler school yard in Morgan county. They are buried in Mt. Sterling cemetery.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. 'Not now, at an age over 60, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs.' Mr. Brittain certified further:

INDIAN'S SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

"At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as profuse as in my youthful days. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called KOTALKO, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist. That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

It has been proved in very many cases that hair roots did not die even when the hair fell out through dandruff, fever, alopecia areata or certain other hair or scalp disorders. Miss A. D. Otto reports: "About 8 years ago my hair began to fall out until my scalp in spots was almost entirely bald. I used everything that was recommended but was slow to die. I was finally appointed until at last I came across KOTALKO. My bald spots are being covered now; the growth is already about three inches." G. W. Mitchell reports: "I had spots completely bald, over which hair is now growing since I used KOTALKO." Mrs. Matilda Maxwell reports: "The whole front of my head was as bald as the palm of my hand for about 15 years. Since using KOTALKO, hair is growing all over the place that was bald." Many more splendid reports from satisfied users.

KOTALKO

contains GENUINE BEAR OIL and other potent ingredients. No alcohol, no shampoo; but a hair elixir of wonderful efficacy. Buy a box of KOTALKO at the drug store. Remember the name, accept nothing else as "just as good." $3.00.00 GUARANTEED. If you send 10 cents (silver or stamps) for new Book on Beautiful Healthy Hair, you will receive a PROOF BOX of KOTALKO FREE, postpaid. Determine NOW to eliminate DANDRUFF, to treat BALDNESS, to STOP HAIR FROM FALLING. Get a box of KOTALKO, apply once or twice daily; watch in your mirror.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. Yet now, at an age over 60, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair. No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs." Mr. Brittain certified further:

INDIAN'S SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH
 "At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as profuse as in my youthful days.

Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious potion. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.

That I was astonished and happy is expressing my state of mind mildly. "My own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

How You May Grow YOUR Hair

It has been proved in very many cases that hair roots did not die even when the hair fell out through dandruff, fever, alopecia areata or certain other hair or scalp disorders. Miss A. D. Otto reports: "About 8 years ago my hair began to fall out until my scalp in spots was almost entirely bald. I used everything that was recommended but was slow to discontinue until at last I came across Kotalko. My bald spots are being covered now; the growth is already about three inches." G. W. Mitchell reports: "I had spots completely bald, over which hair is now growing since I used Kotalko." Mrs. Matilda Maxwell reports: "The whole front of my head was as bald as the palm of my hand for about 15 years. Since using Kotalko, hair is growing all over the place that was bald." Many more splendid reports from satisfied users.

KOTALKO contains GENUINE BEAR OIL and other potent ingredients. No alcohol, no shampoo, but a hair elixir of wonderful efficacy. Buy a box of KOTALKO at the drug store. Remember the name, accept nothing else as "just as good." $3.00. GUARANTEE. Or if you send 10 cents (silver or stamps) for new Box of Beautiful Healthy Hair, you will receive a PROOF BOX of Kotalko FREE, postpaid. Determine NOW to eliminate DANDRUFF, to treat BALDNESS, to STOP HAIR FROM FALLING. Get a box of KOTALKO, apply once or twice daily; watch in your mirror.

POLISH WOMEN ENDURED HARDSHIP
Went Without Food and Water While Fighting Bolsheviks—Held Up By Thought of Service to Country.

WARSAW. — (By Associated Press.)—A Polish woman soldier who took part in driving back the bolsheviks from Warsaw writes to a Polish newspaper, says she went 10 days without taking off her clothes and that frequently the members of her detachment went five and six days without having opportunity to take down their hair. During one march, in keeping pace with the retreating red forces, the women were on the go 14 hours, 13 of which were without food or water.

The letter says: "At 11 o'clock at night we were ordered to be in readiness. Our detachment, all women, at this time had been ordered out for patrol duty. Our pack consists of a coat, rifle, ammunition and other articles, in all weighing 60 pounds. After four hours of marching and when I felt that I couldn't go a step further we received orders to return to our former post, several miles away. I scarcely remember how I reached our destination; I was so tired. I dropped onto a pile of straw and slept for an hour.

Were Without Dope.
"When I was awakened I was informed that my detachment had gone away without me, to take part in a movement to surround a force of bolsheviks hidden in a clump of woods. After six miles of good roadway, I encountered sand which made walking so difficult that my feet pained me at every step. I was covered with dust, and hadn't a drink of water for hours. After walking fifteen miles I reached my comrades who were resting under trees, in the shade from a hot sun. A peasant boy brought a bucket of plums, but we privates only got a look at them; the plums all went to the officers, who were women too. And then the march started again, thru a forest.

"Now and then, as we advanced, I saw some of the women faint, and I heard others crying 'mercy' and I thought I heard curses which must have come from the men on our right. This march has continued 14 hours. For 13 hours we had neither food nor water. When we reached a series of trenches, we were promised something hot to eat. But the food never came, and then the fighting began. Oh, how I longed for a drink—longed for sleep, away from the roar of battle! But above everything there was a feeling of satisfaction—a feeling of undreamed of happiness—despite the suffering from hunger, from lack of water and the misery due to a cold night and heat during the day, when I thought and was thrilled as we fought that I, a woman, was a soldier of Poland."

SCHOOL WEEK IS TO BE OBSERVED
Opening Days of December Designated By Commissioner of Education for Special Observance.

Washington, Nov. 3.—"School Week" will be observed throughout the nation the week of December 5-11, as the Commissioner of Education is designating the first full week in December as "School Week" and is requesting the governors and the chief school officers of the several States and Territories to take such action as may be necessary to cause the people to use this week in such way as will most effectively disseminate among the people accurate information in regard to the conditions and needs of the schools, enhance appreciation of the value of education, and create such interest as will result in better opportunities of education, and larger appropriations for schools of all kinds and grades.

The Commissioner of Education suggests that during this week the public press should give more attention, and a larger amount of space to educational topics than usual, and that on Sunday, December 5, ministers should use one or more of their church services for emphasizing the importance of education.

Educational Needs.
It is further suggested that during the week chambers of commerce, boards of trade, women's clubs, labor unions, farmers' unions, patriotic and civic societies, Rotary Clubs and Kiwanis clubs, and other important organizations and associations should devote one meeting to a discussion of the needs of education in their states and local communities, holding special meetings if necessary, and that motion picture houses should put on their screens during "School Week" facts and figures in regard to the importance of education, and the condition and needs of the schools.

Universities, colleges and normal schools will be requested to devote the convocation hours of the week to a discussion of education in general, and of their own particular needs, and it is further suggested that all elementary and high school teachers should devote one period each day of "School Week" to this subject telling the children about education in their local communities, and in the State and Nation, how the schools are supported and how much money is spent for them, their economic, social and civic value, and that during this week themes of essays and compositions in elementary and high schools relate to education.

Community Meetings.
Friday afternoon and evening of "School Week" has been designated as the date on which community meetings in the interest of education should be held at all school houses, both in city and country, for the purpose of discussing the needs of the schools of the several communities, the means of meeting these needs, and of remedying conditions.

State departments of education have been invited to provide information thru the public press and otherwise in regard to the conditions and needs of the schools in the several States, and city and county superintendents have been invited to take similar action and it is further suggested that city and county superintendents of schools hold meetings on Friday or Saturday of week preceding "School Week" for the purpose of discussing these problems among themselves and making definite plans for the proper observance of the week in school and for Friday afternoon and evening meetings.

WILL TAKE CHARGE OF NEW ISLANDS
Tokio.—The 400 islands of varying size in the South Sea group for which Japan obtained mandatory rights at the peace conference, will have a Japanese governor and a thorough system of administration.

The governor at present will remain under the direction of the navy, which has been in control of the islands since their acquisition five years ago. It is possible that later all connections between the navy and the islands will be severed.

The League of Nations council in November is expected to work out a detailed scheme for the application of the principle of trusteeship by which Japan retains her controls.

The idea involved in enlarging the scope of civil administration is to establish three distinct administrative sections of domestic affairs, colonial affairs and police affairs.

Is it Fair That the Woman Should be the Family Drudge?
If Men Apply the "Helps" to Efficient Work, Why Should a Woman Do Back breaking Toil at the Tub with the Old-Style Washboard?

The wash board is responsible for half the wear on clothes. There are no parts in the tub of the Cataract to cause wear or tear the clothes. The hot sudsy water is forced through the clothes 70 times per minute, thus cleansing and purifying them. It will wash without rubbing wrist bands, collars and skirt bottoms.

This means that you can wash the daintiest silks, linens, or lace without any danger of their being injured. Therefore, it is practical to say that you save half the cost of clothing, and half the time in washing, by using the Cataract.

There are many things that you can wash in the Cataract that are impossible with the old fashioned rubbing wash board. For instance, the machine will wash twelve pair of lace curtains at one time, with no possible chance of their being torn or damaged. The cost of operation is a mere trifle, being less than 3c per hour.

We have sold and specialized on washing machines for years, and our judgment is that the Cataract Electric Washer is the best. No matter whether it saves your time or the wash woman's, it is worthy of your consideration.

VIENNA'S HOTEL SERVICE INADEQUATE

Vienna.—(By The A. P.)—Like nearly every other city in Europe, Vienna's rooming accommodation is taxed beyond capacity. The hotels are overflowing at exorbitant rates (in crown values). Every train unloads its quota of newcomers to travel in taxicabs and farces from one end of the city to the other in search of sleeping quarters while even the room requisitioning system by the government fails to house many thousands.

An American visitor wishing to go from Vienna to Budapest telegraphed daily for a week, receiving daily the reply, "nothing available." An American woman, wife of a consul arrived the other day and it required all the influence of four American officials to secure her a bathroom in which to sleep.

To solve the permanent rooming problem the city authorities have passed an ordinance permitting the reconstruction of the apartment buildings for sleeping quarters. This space under the roof is meant as storage room for tenants and for laundry drying purposes. It was unlawful to permit anyone to sleep there and an ordinance required the congregate to lock the entrance at 7 p. m. It is estimated that there are 40,000 such buildings in the city, but how many landlords will go to the expense of alteration remains to be seen.

Jacob Hoover was a business visitor in town Saturday.

At the request of many of her local friends, Miss Olivia G. Dunlap, who is connected with the immigration service, has written the following letter for publication in The Journal. Many interesting details are given in regard to the immigrants who daily land at Ellis Island seeking to become American citizens. Miss Dunlap's letter follows:

Walton, N. Y., Oct. 31, 1920.
Editor Journal:

Many requests come to me for information in regard to the immigrant situation, and as my strenuous life makes it impossible for me to send information to each personally, much as I would enjoy doing and I am sending this article to you for publication.

The question was often asked during the days of the war: Will the immigrant come to America in the large number true in former years? Stand for five minutes at our port of entry, Ellis Island, or at the government battery, and the question is answered. He is here in greater numbers than before, with a greater vision of a life under the American flag than in any previous years in the history of our great nation.

Last week 28,041 landed. In three months ending with Sept. 30th, 233,000 came in to be trained to be Americans. Yes, once more the tide of European immigration sets toward America and Ellis Island is thronged with foreign oddities, who nevertheless show an improved order of intelligence and education because of the work of the American soldier. They are making their bow to the Lady of Liberty by the thousands each day.

I wish to give Benjamin Finkel's interpretation of the soul of a few of the incoming new immigrants.

Five stowaways, young boys from Poland, starved, naked—literally naked—their bodies only covered with old newspapers pinned together, barefoot and long-haired, landed on Ellis Island some weeks ago. The first question they asked Finkel after he had greeted them in their own tongue was: "Has the American senate accepted the league of nations?" The new immigrant has learned to know that America is not only a country where gold lies in heaps awaiting the man industrious enough to shovel the metal into bags, but that it also has a constitution and other advantages which are frequently even more precious than material wealth. He knows the declaration of independence and our constitution from A to Z, including the latest amendment.

Our American doughboy is responsible for the education of the new immigrant.

Two little children, one six and another seven years of age, who had come to America with their mother, became sick when they tasted fresh milk. They had forgotten the taste of it and only heard of its existence from older brothers. They had not seen any milk in six years. Not even the pictures of children from the famine-districts of Russia are as heart-rending as was the sight of those Austrian children.

It is reported that the first steamer departing from Constantinople for an American port since the war was the Turkish ship Gul Djemal. Among its passengers were 1,000 each of Greeks, Armenians and Jewish emigrants. The commissioners said, Ellis Island probably never before experienced the phenomenon of Wednesday night, when 319 immigrants of detention from overcrowded quarters sufficient for 1,500. The commissioners found that on three recently arrived vessels were more than 1,000 persons who had less than $20, and many were detained pending the arrival of funds from friends and relatives.

All three ships were loaded with Polish war refugees. The exodus of Jews from Poland amounts to a stampede. They each tell pitiful stories. On Oct. 25th it was necessary to close the doors of Ellis Island for the day until the 2,221 detained could be passed on to make room for 6,067 yet on the boats in harbor. I quote the words of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in his speech at a recent Saturday concert at Ellis Island held each week for the immigrants. He said: "It is every gratifying that Commissioner Wallis has done so much to transform Ellis Island into a human institution in so short a time." The island has been overtaxed for several weeks.

Because of a more thorough inspection which has not been relaxed, immigration fell off during the war period. Everything is much changed in handling the incoming aliens. I understand that Commissioner Wallis is planning a department of distribution to place 1,000,000 immigrants where their labor will be of the greatest service. It will prevent congestion in larger cities. It will provide labor where labor is most needed. As the country needs farm help most, many will be induced to take this branch of industry.

The Y. M. C. A. is doing its part on the island to educate the immigrants in the different industries of our nation by the use of the motion picture. Warm milk and crackers are furnished to the babies several times a day. Fruit has been added to the daily meals, 10,000 of which are served daily. A big yard has been arranged, where the children may play and the patients breathe fresh air.

Medical inspection and fumigation service are being organized in all European ports by the U. S. public health service, every emigrant from southern Europe to be cleaned on boarding ship. During the past month 200 ships have been fumigated by the health officials of the port as a safeguard against bubonic plague. On one Dutch liner 1,382 were vaccinated.

The island is not without romances. Young women come daily from France to marry the soldier lover of the overseas service. Some are met by the happiness they are looking forward to, others meet disappointment and lose faith in America, and beg to be shipped.

On one Sabbath in September Mrs. Schumann-Heink sang in English to some 3,000 immigrants on the island. It certainly was a cosmopolitan audience but an appreciative one. Those who knock at America's door of opportunity are not the sum of the earth as we so often think, but the descendants of great masters of art. If America will only rouse to her privileges and opportunities, these sons and daughters of the steerage boat will develop into valuable assets to our nation. But if we do not allow them to be trained to Christian citizenship, they will become a menace to us.

"As we meet and touch each day, The many travelers on our way, Let every such brief contact be A glorious helpful ministry; The contact of the soil and seed, Each giving to the other's need, Each helping on the other's best, And blessing each as well as blest."

I wish that each of my Jacksonville friends could look into the faces of these new arrivals and see the manner in which Commissioner Wallis welcomes them. These are the coming Americans, who in time will love the old flag as did Lafayette in years gone by. As I look into the little French lad's face I can hear him answering our great Gen. Pershing's words at Lafayette's grave: "Gen. Pershing, I am here to do my best for America."

These are just a few facts I have hurriedly gathered together for those who have made inquiry regarding this great question now before the American nation—the Americanization of the incoming immigrant. Sincerely,
Olive Dunlap.

THE ELECTION.

While the result of the election is a victory for the principles that the Republican party stands for, it was also a triumph for the highest ideals that the people of this country advocate.

The storm center of the campaign was President Wilson's administration and the League of Nations.

Judging from the result it can hardly be claimed that the Democrats regarded his administration as Democratic, at least in the highest sense of that term. The election was affected very little by the strength of the Republican candidates or weakness of the Democrats, tho as the campaign progressed it was evident that Senator Harding gained and that Governor Cox lost.

It is usually the case that the party in power when a successful war is fought is very popular with the people and remains so for some length of time and also remains in power for quite a while but that was not the result in this instance.

The result of the election demonstrates that this nation cannot be controlled by any one man or any one party; that the government belongs to the people, and when the country is threatened the people rise above one man rule and above party ties, or label, and stand for the government.

We often hear it said that the Republican party has a big job on its hands, and that is true, but it would be better to say that the people have a big job on their hands, for the people are the government, and while the party in power has great responsibilities resting on it, it also has great opportunity for accomplishing great results, not only for this nation but for many other nations.

This government can only be sustained by being loyal to God and the principles established by the fathers of the revolution of '76 and maintained by the loyal people in 1861-5.

A nation cannot be too jealous of its perpetuity, the Babylonian fell, the Medo-Persian Kingdom went down and the Roman Empire that sat upon seven hills and from her throne of beauty ruled, the revolt, perished from the earth, and if this country should ever forget the brave soldiers who have fallen in her defense, or their widows and orphans, or the never ending kind providence that has led and guided her thru so many perils, and has given her unparalleled prosperity, it would doubtless be said of her as was said of Babylon of old, thy glory hath departed, hew down her tree and cut off her branches, and the judgment would be true and righteous all together.

For Beauty's Sake

Remove that film-coat from your teeth

Teeth cannot glisten with a film-coat on them. You who want white teeth must learn how to remove it.

This week your druggist offers—free—a new way of teeth cleaning. Millions now employ it. Leading dentists everywhere advise it. Go make that test. One week's results will be a revelation.

Film—the great enemy

But this is more than a beauty question. Film ruins millions of teeth. Most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste cannot end it, so the tooth brush has left much of it intact.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles have been constantly increasing, because brushing failed to end that film.

Now a new dental era

Dental science, after years of research, has found ways to combat film day by day. The methods have been proved efficient by many careful tests. High authorities endorse them. And millions of people now employ them, largely by dental advice.

These methods are combined in a tooth paste called Pepsodent. Together they combat the film as nothing else has done. And they are fast bringing, the world over, a new era in teeth cleaning.

That is the tooth paste you are urged to test. See the instant results—watch the effects for ten days. Then decide for yourself between the old ways and the new.

The unique effects

One ingredient of Pepsodent is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva to digest starch deposits that cling. The alkalinity of the saliva is multiplied also. That to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

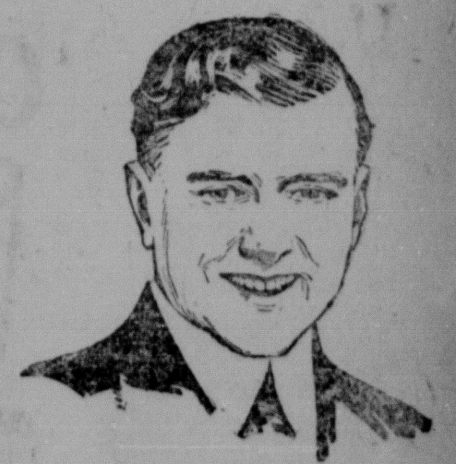

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

The Pepsodent effects come with every application. Day by day they fight the teeth's great enemies. And teeth are protected as they never were before.

See and feel it act

Present this coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

The results are quick and apparent. A little book tells the reasons for them. For your own sake learn how much they mean.

Now daily used
by millions

Millions of people are now using Pepsodent. You can see the results wherever you look—in glistening teeth

Women who think their teeth white now should see how they look with the film gone.

With men who smoke the films are apt to be particularly discolored. They will see the most conspicuous results.

But children need Pepsodent most. Their teeth are most subject to decay. Dentists advise that Pepsodent be daily applied from the time the first tooth appears. It may save them troubles life-long in effect.

TELLS OF CONDITIONS AT ELLIS ISLAND

Miss Olivia Dunlap Writes in Interesting Way of Immigration Problem as Presented at Great Port of Entry.

At the request of many of her local friends, Miss Olivia G. Dunlap, who is connected with the immigration service, has written the following letter for publication in The Journal. Many interesting details are given in regard to the immigrants who daily land at Ellis Island seeking to become American citizens. Miss Dunlap's letter follows:

Walden, N. Y., Oct. 31, 1920.
Editor Journal:

Many requests come to me for information in regard to the immigrant situation, and as my strenuous life makes it impossible for me to send information to each personally, much as I would enjoy doing and I am sending this article to you for publication.

The question was often asked during the days of the war: Will the immigrant come to America in the large number true in former years? Stand for five minutes at our port of entry, Ellis Island, or at the government battery, and the question is answered. He is here in greater numbers than before, with a greater vision of a life under the American flag than in any previous years in the history of our great nation.

I wish to give Benjamin Finkel's interpretation of the soul of a few of the incoming new immigrants.

Five stowaways, young boys from Poland, starved, naked, literally naked—their bodies only covered with old newspapers pinned together, barefoot and long haired, landed on Ellis Island some weeks ago. The first question they asked Finkel after he had greeted them in their own tongue was: "Has the American senate accepted the league of nations?" The new immigrant has learned to know that America is not only a country where gold lies in heaps awaiting the man industrious enough to shovel the metal into bags, but that it also has a constitution and other advantages which are frequently even more precious than material wealth. He knows the declaration of independence and our constitution from A to Z, including the latest amendment.

As I look into the little French lady's face I can hear him whispering our great God's words at Lafayette's grave: "Gen. Pershing, I am here to do my best for America."

These are just a few facts I have hurriedly gathered together for those who have made inquiry regarding this great question now before the American nation—the Americanization of the incoming immigrant. Sincerely,
Olivia Dunlap.

For Beauty's Sake

Remove that film-coat from your teeth

Teeth cannot glisten with a film-coat on them. You who want white teeth must learn how to remove it.

This week your druggist offers—free—a new way of teeth cleaning. Millions now employ it. Leading dentists everywhere advise it. Go make that test. One week's results will be a revelation.

Film—the great enemy

But this is more than a beauty question. Film ruins millions of teeth. Most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste cannot end it, so the tooth brush has left much of it intact.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles have been constantly increasing, because brushing failed to end that film.

Now a new dental era

Dental science, after years of research, has found ways to combat film day by day. The methods have been proved efficient by many careful tests. High authorities endorse them. And millions of people now employ them, largely by dental advice.

These methods are combined in a tooth paste called Pepsodent. Together they combat the film as nothing else has done. And they are fast bringing, the world over, a new era in teeth cleaning.

That is the tooth paste you are urged to test. See the instant results—watch the effects for ten days. Then decide for yourself between the old ways and the new.

The unique effects

One ingredient of Pepsodent is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva to digest starch deposits that cling. The alkalinity of the saliva is multiplied also. That to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

The Pepsodent effects come with every application. Day by day they fight the teeth's great enemies. And teeth are protected as they never were before.

See and feel it act

Present this coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

The results are quick and apparent. A little book tells the reasons for them. For your own sake learn how much they mean.

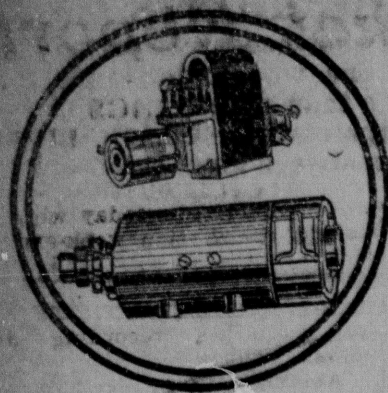

Now daily used
by millions

Millions of people are now using Pepsodent. You can see the results wherever you look—in glistening teeth.

Women who think their teeth white now should see how they look with the film gone.

With men who smoke the films are apt to be particularly discolored. They will see the most conspicuous results.

But children need Pepsodent most. Their teeth are most subject to decay. Dentists advise that Pepsodent be daily applied from the time the first tooth appears. It may save them troubles life-long in effect.

KERNELS FOR THE FARM

By M. B. POWELL.

We hear a lot about the right to strike. Why doesn't somebody wax eloquent upon the right to work?

It is not enough that the man at the head of your farm organization has a heart as sound as a nut. It's his nut that must be sound also.

There never was a sky so dull That growling made it brighter There never was a heavy load That growling made it lighter. S unflower as Silage.

Farm advisers in Macoupin, Monroe, Pike, Marshall-Putnam and Jersey Counties commend sunflowers for silo filling. Eymann of Jersey county says "Sunflowers in the country are yielding all the way from 2 to 17 tons per acre depending upon the ground and the way in which they were put in. In any instance, these sunflowers are yielding about twice as much per acre as the corn yields on similar land in the same field. If the sunflowers were properly put in they have yielded well and given excellent returns. We have about 20 fields in the county this year and there will be much greater use made of them next year if the chinch bugs show up next spring. Most of our men realize now that sunflowers are our one chance for a supply of silage in the face of chinch bugs."

Pays to Hull This Sweet Clover.

A unique but effective method of hulling sweet clover was worked out on the farm of James Gould near Merna. Mr. Gould had acres of sweet clover cut for seed with the tractor-binder. It was very much branched and bushy, making it practically impossible to feed into the regular clover huller. It was suggested that the bundles be first run thru a regular grain separator and the seed, chaff, and broken stems and other litter be put into box wagons and taken to a huller. A short discussion in company with Mr. Gould and the farmer having the huller brought out the suggestion that the huller be set along side of the grain separator and let the grain spout deliver the seed and other litter directly into the cylinder of the clover huller. This was done, and one of the cleanest, quickest and best jobs of sweet clover hulling I have ever known was the result. The cost too, was but little more for the two machines than would have been required for one huller alone. It was the most effective plan for clean and rapid sweet clover hulling I have ever seen. The yield of sweet clover seed was a little over 10 bushels per acre, as it came from the huller. It was so clean that after recleaning it will show a good 10 bushel yield. Most of this seed has been sold for $15 without recleaning.—Center, McLean County.

Mary's Little Lamb 1920.

Mary had a little lamb
It's fleece she could not sell
Because the manufacturer
Said shoddy did as well.

He used old worn out woolen rags

Full seven times and more
And only sneered at virgin wool.
It made our Mary sore.

Mary has a little vote
Another has her maw
And 'truth-in-frabrics is a bill
They boost into a law.

And then our Mary's little lamb
Can grow his fleece with pride
And suits of pure sweet virgin wool
We'll all wear next the hide!

SADDLE HORSE COMING

Chicago.—The saddle horse is on the way toward regaining his once great popularity, according to reports from all sections of the country received here during the horse show, held recently in connection with the national dairy exposition.

"Chicago stables, where horses are kept for hire, report increases of thirty to one hundred per cent in saddle horse business during the past year and word from other cities indicates a similar revival. "An interest in equestrianism, "Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse Association of America, said here today. "A San Francisco stable says that its patronage has tripled in two years. The Minneapolis Saddle and Bridle club now owns more horses than ever before, and with Kansas City is extending its bridle paths."

JAPS SHOULD LEAVE
Seoul, Korea.—(By A. P.)—Japanese settlers in California should all leave the United States where they are apparently not wanted and come to Korea and Manchuria where they are very much needed says the Seoul Press, semi-official organ of the Japanese administration here.

The journal says: "By withdrawing themselves en bloc from California, the Japanese would economically lose but would score a great moral victory. There is plenty of room in Chosen (Korea) and Manchuria.

"Being industrious and diligent there is no reason why they cannot succeed on this side of the Pacific as on the other. We wish that the Japanese statesmen in power were far-sighted enough to take measures for recalling home all of them in order to make them contribute to the economical and industrial development of Chosen and Manchuria. We want here efficient man-power and this is offered by California. Why not accept it with pleasure?"

PORT IMPROVEMENTS IN ARGENTINA

Buenos Aires.—Extensive port improvement works are proposed for Argentina. Work was begun on improving the port at Comodoro Rivadavia, the outlet for the oil fields. Wharves and warehouses are to be built at a cost of $1,700,000 for taking care of imports and shipment of petroleum. This work is being done by the government.

At Rosario, the second port of the country, it is proposed to spend $3,000,000 gold, increasing dockage and warehouse facilities. No important additions have been made to this port for ten years and expansion is said to be badly needed. If the plans made are approved by the minister of public works, preparations will be made to execute them immediately.

Ralph Frost Sibley of this city traces his genealogy pretty well back. Richard Warren came over in the Mayflower; the ship that bore some of the brave Puritans from the old world to a place where they could have freedom to worship God. His daughter, Elizabeth, married Richard Church; she had a son, Caleb, married to Joanna Sprague, and left a daughter, Rebecca, married to Joshua Warren, and had a daughter, Hannah, who married Noah Rice; had a son Asahel, who married Mary Bromwell; had a daughter, Nancy, who married Simon Sibley; had a son, Leonard, married Fanny D. Northway; had a son, George Leonard, the father of Ralph Frost Sibley of this city.

Oily skin and shiny nose

How to correct them

Do you know that the oil in your skin is necessary to keep it smooth, velvety, supple? This oil is constantly being produced by the glands of the skin. When it is too abundant the result is an oily skin and a shiny nose. You can relieve this embarrassing condition by using the following treatment as frequently as is necessary.

With warm water work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap in your hands. Apply it to your face and rub it into the pores thoroughly—always with an upward and outward motion. Rinse with warm water, then with cold—the colder the better. If possible, rub your face for thirty seconds with a piece of ice.

This treatment will make your skin firmer and drier the very first time you try it. Use it as often as your skin requires, nightly if necessary, and before long you will see a marked improvement.

Get a cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap and begin tonight the treatment your skin needs. You will find Woodbury's on sale at any drug store or toilet goods counter in the United States or Canada. A 25 cent cake will last a month or six weeks.

WHEAT SUFFERS
By Associated Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—All grains were affected today by the statement of Julius Barnes former director-general of the United States grain corporation before the American Farm Bureau Federation yesterday wheat suffering the greatest setback. At the finish wheat was down 5 1/2 to 8 1/2 with December $1.90 to $1.90 1/2 and March $1.87 to $1.87 1/2. Corn was off 1 1/2 to 2 1/2; oats showed a net loss of 3/4 to 1 1/2 and provisions ranged 15 to 15c lower. Sentiment in wheat was extremely bearish, general business and economic conditions throughout the world being the main influence. At the low point today December showed more than 21 cents under the high of Wednesday and the December-March spread narrowed to around 3 1/2 at one time against 8 1/2 at the close Wednesday. Country offerings were not large and shipping sales here aggregated 135,000 bushels. Corn broke sharply under general selling and closed about the inside figures of the day with prices on the deferred deliveries about the lowest on the crop. Oats followed other grains and declined readily. Provisions declined on selling by scattered longs on the weakness of grains.

STOCK DEALINGS
By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Dealings in stocks today were unusually lively for a week-end session but the activity was wholly at the expense of quoted values representative as well as less favored issues recording additional declines. Absence of any semblance of support enabled the shorts to press their advantage in the steel, equipment, shipping, motor and oil divisions, extreme reactions ranging from 2 to 7 points. The more severe individual losses were sustained by Vandalia, Republic and Sloss-Sheffield Steels, Baldwin Locomotive, New York Air Brake, Atlantic Gulf, Mexican Petroleum, Pierce Arrow and Stromberg Carburizer. Sales amounted to $75,000 shares. News of the day was not a character to inspire confidence. British, French and Italian rates of exchange were in a further state of demoralization and domestic activities tended to confirm known conditions in the textile and allied trades with emphasis on the pronounced increase of unemployment. Another deficit in actual reserves, comparatively light against the loss of a fortnight ago, was the noteworthy feature of the weekly clearing house statement. Other interesting items of that exhibit included a decrease of $54,255,000 in loans and discounts, a decrease of $25,362,000 in members' reserves at the federal reserve bank and a contraction of $78,323,000 in net demand deposits. The bond market stood up fairly well in the face of further liquidation reactions among popular domestic and foreign issues notably the liberty bonds being little more than nominal. Total sales (par value) $6,275,000. Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call during the week.

POTATO POSSIBILITIES

By Marian Brunlet Powell

Like the poor old potato we have always with us. And it is usually treated with the scant consideration too often accorded the poor for nothing in the world is easier than misusing or the potato. Yet both are with good treatment also here I must consider the tuber exclusively. It has taken elements from the earth and the sun and the air which the human body needs. For instance the nitrogen in the potato, while small in amount, is so compounded that it is of high nutritive efficiency. Also the potato is one of the cheapest sources of iron. Phosphorus it contains, and also lime which the children need in their business or building bones and teeth. Nor are any of these or all, good as they are, the best quality of the potato.

The best quality is outstanding. It is that the potato contains when compared with cereals, a relatively high proportion of potassium, body neutral or slightly alkaline. The value of potassium is that it helps to keep the fluids of the One medium sized potato furnish as sufficient alkaline substance to neutralize the acids produced by one ordinary sized slice of roast beef. And acids within us, if unneutralized cause serious trouble.

The value of the potato to the body for its starch-content which is a high energy-yielder is too well known to need more than passing mention. Also it gives bulk to the diet, thus assisting in the important work of elimination.

It is the cook who can undo the good work put into the potato in such fashion as to bring tears to all of its eyes. There are ways in which the potato is usually ill-treated in the kitchen.

1. By paring before boiling instead of after. In boiling a high as twenty per cent. Since the larger proportion of its valuable protein and mineral matter is in the outer layers this loss may be serious. The waste of total substances may be about twice as great when the paring is done before boiling as when it is done

2. By cutting the potato into dice before cooking. This increases the amount of surface exposed and the results in still greater loss of nutrient than when they are boiled whole.

3. By soaking potatoes in cold water before cooking. It is sometimes necessary to soak old potatoes in order to remove their strong flavor and make them fit for food. This is the only excuse for soaking them, however, as experiments have shown that potatoes soaked for from three to five hours lose about three times as much mineral matter and seven times as much protein as when pared and put on to cook immediately.

4. By putting potatoes to cook in cold instead of boiling water. Experiments have proved that while the loss of mineral matter is inconsiderable, there is over twice as great a loss of protein when potatoes are put on to cook in cold instead of boiling water.

5. By cooking potatoes in unsalted water. This results in a distinct loss of mineral matter. The loss is reduced to about one-third by starting the tubers out in salted water.

Baked potatoes are valuable especially for the children. By rubbing potatoes with a little lard or butter before putting them in the oven, children will often eat the jackets when they would reject them if baked dry. Thus they get the valuable elements that lie next the skin. Potatoes must be baked in an oven that is really hot if they are to be satisfactory, because if the heat is not sufficient to cause the cell walls to be broken down the result is a soggy mass on which the digestive juices cannot act freely. In boiling potatoes be careful that they do not boil too rapidly because it is likely to pulverize the outside of the potato before the inside becomes tender.

Here are three ways of preparing potatoes which make of them real party dishes.

Potato Puff.

And beaten white of eggs to mashed potatoes (two eggs to six medium sized potatoes). Pile the mixture lightly in a baking dish and bake it in the oven until it puffs and browns. The yolks of the eggs and one-fourth cup of grated cheese may be added.

Delmonico Potatoes.

Arrange creamed potatoes, and grated cheese in alternate layers in a buttered baking dish. Cover the top of the dish with buttered crumbs and bake it until it is brown.

Roasted Potatoes.

Parboil potatoes for ten minutes. Remove the skins, cut the potatoes into one-fourth inch slices and sprinkle into a little fat. Put them in a pan containing a small amount of hot fat and cook them in the oven until they are evenly browned. And you'll tell the world they're good!

NU-BONE CORSETS

Stays bend edgewise as well as flatwise, thus making it possible for the body to assume any position without discomfort. Further more they have powers of lengthening and shortening which not only insure pleasing unbroken lines but prevent the stays from pushing through the cloth of the corset.

Nu-Bone Corsets are made-to-measure; also kept in stock. Call, write or phone without obligation on your part for information or appointment.

afterward because the skin tends to hold back the mineral salts, the protein, and the starch, and none of the food substance comes off with the skin after cooking. Of course any green portion should be cut away before cooking since the flavor is bad.

2. By cutting the potato into dice before cooking. This increases the amount of surface exposed and the results in still greater loss of nutrient than when they are boiled whole.

WANT CHANGE IN TEXT BOOKS

Tokio.—(By the A. P.)—The principal of the Japanese Language School at Seattle, Toratara Takahata, has returned here to negotiate with the educational authorities for a revision of the Japanese textbooks used in teaching Japanese children in Japanese schools in the United States. Takahata said he had 270 pupils in his Seattle school and that all of them were at the same time pupils in American public schools. He added:

"To put it in a plain language, Japanese textbooks used for the Japanese children at home, would be, when used for Japanese children abroad, particularly in the United States, highly calculated to sow the seeds of misapprehensions concerning the American-Japanese relations in the tender minds.

"With the object, therefore, of making the necessary revision, of the textbook, I have returned here to negotiate with the educational authorities. When the required revision is introduced, the situation of the anti-Japanese sentiment in America may be considerably improved."

POTATO POSSIBILITIES

By Marian Bruntlett Powell

Like the poor the potato we have always with us. And it is usually treated with the scant consideration too often accorded the poor for nothing in the world is easier than mistaking or the potato. Yet both are worth good treatment altho here I must consider the tuber exclusively. It has taken elements from the earth and the sun and the air which the human body needs. For instance the nitrogen in the potato, while small in amount, is so compounded that it is of high nutritive efficiency. Also the potato is one of the cheapest sources of iron. Phosphorus it contains and also lime which the children need in their business or building bones and teeth. Nor are any of these or all, good as they are, the best quality of the potato.

The best quality is outstanding. It is that the potato contains when compared with cereals, a relatively high proportion of potassium, body neutral or slightly alkaline. The value of potassium is that it helps to keep the fluids of the body in balance. One medium sized potato furnishes sufficient alkaline substance to neutralize the acids produced by one ordinary sized slice of roast beef. And acids within us, if unneutralized cause serious trouble. The value of the potato to the body for its starch-content which is a high energy-yielder is too well known to need more than passing mention. Also it gives bulk to the diet, thus assisting in the important work of elimination.

It is the cook who can undo the good work put into the potato in such fashion as to bring tears to all of its eyes. There are ways in which the potato is usually ill-treated in the kitchen.

1. By paring before boiling instead of after. In boiling a pared potato the loss may be as high as twenty per cent. Since the larger proportion of its valuable protein and mineral matter is in the outer layers this loss may be serious. The waste of total substances may be about twice as great when the paring is done before boiling as when it is done

Stays bend edgewise as well as flatwise, thus making it possible for the body to assume any position without discomfort. Furthermore they have powers of lengthening and shortening which not only insure pleasing unbroken lines but prevent the stays from pushing through the cloth of the corset.

Nu-Bone Corsets are made-to-measure; also kept in stock. Call, write or phone without obligation on your part for information or appointment.

afterward because the skin tends to hold back the mineral salts, the protein, and the starch, and none of the food substance comes off with the skin after cooking. Of course any green portion should be cut away before cooking since the flavor is bad.

2. By cutting the potato into dice before cooking. This increases the amount of surface exposed and the results in still greater loss of nutriment than when they are boiled whole.

3. By soaking potatoes in cold water before cooking. It is sometimes necessary to soak old potatoes in order to remove their strong flavor and make them fit for food. This is the only excuse for soaking them, however, as experiments have shown that potatoes soaked for from three to five hours lose about three times as much mineral matter and seven times as much protein as when pared and put on to cook immediately.

4. By putting potatoes to cook in cold instead of boiling water. Experiments have proved that while the loss of mineral matter is inconsiderable, there is over twice as great a loss of protein when potatoes are put on to cook in cold instead of boiling water.

5. By cooking potatoes in unsalted water. This results in a distinct loss of mineral matter. The loss is reduced to about one-third by starting the tubers out in salted water.

Baked potatoes are valuable especially for the children. By rubbing potatoes with a little lard or butter before putting them in the oven, children will often eat the jackets when they would reject them if baked dry. Thus they get the valuable elements that lie next the skin. Potatoes must be baked in an oven that is really hot if they are to be satisfactory, because if the heat is not sufficient to cause the cell walls to be broken down the result is a soggy mass on which the digestive juices cannot act freely. In boiling potatoes be careful that they do not boil too rapidly because it is likely to pulverize the outside of the potato before the inside becomes tender.

Here are three ways of preparing potatoes which make of them real party dishes.

Potato Puff.

And beaten white of eggs to mashed potatoes (two eggs to six medium sized potatoes). Pile the mixture lightly in a baking dish and bake it in the oven until it puffs and browns. The yolks of the eggs and one-fourth cup of grated cheese may be added.

Delmonico Potatoes.

Arrange creamed potatoes and grated cheese in alternate layers in a buttered baking dish. Cover the top of the dish with buttered crumbs and bake it until it is brown.

Roasted Potatoes.

Parboil potatoes for ten minutes. Remove the skins, cut the potatoes into one-fourth inch slices and sprinkle into a little flour. Put them in a pan containing a small amount of hot fat and cook them in the oven until they are evenly browned. And you'll tell the world they're good!

GREATER INTEREST SHOWN IN SURVEY

Red Cross Office Scene of Increasing Activity — Well Known People Take Part in Work.

The Red Cross headquarters is coming the scene of great activity in connection with the city and county survey now in progress. Almost continuously members of the various committees are present seeking advice and guidance as to the particular duties of their section. Saturday at 4 p. m. a meeting of the full committee on family welfare was scheduled. Needless to say this is a very important subject and the personnel of the committee has been chosen with great care. The following citizens have signified their willingness to serve:

Miss Eleanor Moore.
Miss Josephine Ross.
Miss Mabel Withee.
Miss Lucy Catlin.
Mrs. J. E. Knapp.
Mrs. W. D. Roberts.
Miss Bea Ellis.
Miss Irene Merrill.
Miss Ethel Cloyd.
Miss Sophronia Kent.
Miss Anna Palmer.
Miss Emma May Leonard.
Miss Marian Williamson.

Scanning the above array of names it is obvious that this particular subject will receive the attention due it.

Saturday the Recreation and also the Delinquency Committee was in conference. The importance of the subjects which these committees will study are apparent.

The following named have consented to work on the Recreation Committee:

Frank J. Hehl, chairman.
Miss Mary Wadsworth.
Miss Josephine Hayden.
Mrs. Lee Doane.
Dick Y. Rowe.
Mrs. John Barkery.
Mrs. Albert C. Baldwin.
Rev. W. H. Marbach.
Rev. B. C. Post.
O. H. Buhrman.
Rev. G. W. Randle.

The Delinquency Committee has been appointed with the following names:

Judge H. P. Samuell, chairman.
Miss S. Maria Fairbank, vice chairman.

There is no question that when these committees complete the work to which they have been assigned the community will know vastly more on these vital subjects than it does today. In addition to the high school and Routh college enrollment of workers, Illinois Woman's college and also Illinois College have enlisted under the banner of improvement and will do their share as they may be requested.

Next week the entire county is to be organized with the greatest possible thoroughness and there is no question that when the switch is turned on this machine will be found hitting on all cylinders.

WANT CHANGE IN TEXT BOOKS

Tokio.—(By the A. P.)—The principal of the Japanese Language School at Seattle, Torakuro Takahata, has returned here to negotiate with the educational authorities for a revision of the Japanese textbooks used in teaching Japanese children in Japanese schools in the United States.

Takahata said he had 270 pupils in his Seattle school and that all of them were at the same time pupils in American public schools. He added:

"To put it in a plain language, Japanese textbooks used for the Japanese children at home, would be, when used for Japanese children abroad, particularly in the United States, highly calculated to sow the seeds of misapprehensions concerning the American-Japanese relations in the tender minds."

"With the object, therefore, of making the necessary revision, of the textbooks, I have returned here to negotiate with the educational authorities. When the required revision is introduced, the situation of the anti-Japanese sentiment in America may be considerably improved."
